POLICE ARREST 'RED' ON CHARGE OF SPREADING TERRORISTIC DOCTRINES

Old High School Buildings Unsafe, Official Asserts

HAYS POINTS OUT DANEGR TO PUPILS

Explains That as His Reason for Wanting Bonds to Carry PLAN 'OPEN HOUSE'

Public to Inspect Two Structures at P-T. A. Session Tuesday

The old buildings at the Santa Ana High school are unsafe; they could not withstand another major earthquake, and if they fell, the lives of hundreds of children would be endangered. "I believe in calling a spade a spade," said Rolla Hays, school board member, as he outlined this opinion today. "From reports of the state engineers who inspected the buildings after the 1933 earthquake, we know these buildings are not safe from a major earthquake. I believe the people ought to know that."

Two Buildings to be the old administration building, and the west building where home economics classes have been held. Mr. Hays said that he does not believe the dangerous situation should be allowed to continue any longer than necessary, while new structures are being erected. In order that the people of Santa Ana may understand the actual situation and see for themselves the conditions under which the high school operates, an "open house" or inspection of the buildings has been arranged for next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. Plans for the inspection were made public today by Lynn Crawford, high school principal.

To Outline Program The open house will be conducted in connection with the meeting of the high school Parent-Teacher association, of which Mrs. Ernest H. Elmer is president. During the short meeting, the high school building situation will be outlined. Reasons for calling the bond issue to complete the (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 1.)

3-Year-Old Girl Knows All About Government

GERING, Neb., Sept. 19. (P)—A tiny blue eyed girl, 3 years old, was the talk of district court today.

Officials expressed themselves as "amazed" at the knowledge of government she displayed at an impromptu examination during a recess in naturalization hearings yesterday.

Frightened by spectators and clinging to her father's hand, the child, Mary Reichert, stood beside Judge George Irwin's desk and reeled off answers to questions, using words she could barely pronounce.

"Who is speaker of the house?" her father asked, she replied, brushing an unruly blond curl from her eyes.

"What does congress do?" "Make laws."

"What is the eighteenth amendment?"

Mary smoothed the white skirt which billowed out beneath her little red jacket. "Can't drink."

Human Vultures Lure CCC Men Into Thefts To Get Liquor Money

Plied with liquor by human vultures who use their victims' weakness to lead them into theft of government stores, two members of the Civilian Conservation Corps camp at El Toro, have been lodged in the Orange county jail.

One of the men faces a charge of stealing government property. The other was arrested as a drunk and released yesterday. When he returned to camp, clad in rags, the man, a college graduate and World War flier, told Capt. William Thomas, camp commander, a story of having been stripped of his clothing by the proprietor of a liquor "joint."

Wants "Cleanup" Captain Thomas told a Journal reporter yesterday that he will not rest until authorities clean up conditions that have led several of his men into trouble.

The camp commander blames the proprietors of two service stations, licensed to sell beer and wine, with the greater portion of the trouble that veterans in the camp have encountered. One of the service station operators, he declared, has made a practice of sending a car out the road leading to camp to meet men and take them to his resort.

Sam Talbot, now in jail facing charges of stealing government property, has confessed to Captain Thomas that he has traded a quantity of government-owned bacon and ham to the proprietors of the two service stations for a small amount of cash. On one occasion, he told Captain Thomas, he traded a side of bacon for a half gallon of cheap wine and $1 in cash.

Others Buy Foods The liquor dealers, said Captain Thomas, are not the only persons who lure members of the CCC company to steal government stores. "Talbot has told me since his arrest that he sold considerable of the foodstuffs, stolen from the store room, to ranchers and others (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2.)

The committee of which Mr. Spurgeon is acting chairman will supplement informational work being done by the county flood control district itself. An office for distribution of facts and figures about the county water program has been opened at 512 North Main street by the flood control district.

The county water program contemplates erection of a dam on the Santa Ana river, as well as on other streams. The county will vote on a $6,620,000 bond issue next Oct. 4. The federal government has been asked to provide a $6,374,000 grant to assist in the work.

"What is the twenty-first amendment?" "Peals eighteenth 'mendment,'" she shrilled. She knew the President and vice president, the President's salary, the governor of Nebraska, who discovered America and when the number of senators, names of county and nearby officers and other things.

Her greatest ambition, she confessed shyly, was to visit "Guv'nor Cochran" and have a picture of "Pres'tent Roosevelt." Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Dave Reichert, both were immigrants from Russia. Her father was naturalized in 1931 and her mother obtained citizenship at yesterday's hearing.

Mr. Reichert said Mary had "picked up" her knowledge from attending FERA citizenship classes with her mother. Left alone for a moment after her "examination," she was found huddled in a corner of the corridor. "I want my mamma," she sobbed.

EUROPE NEAR GREAT WAR, SAY HEADS

Military Observers See Powder Keg Situation in Mediterranean

LLOYD GEORGE GLUM

'War of Aggression Due in Week,' Declares Former Official

LONDON, Sept. 19. (P)—Foreign military observers said tonight a situation was rapidly developing in the Mediterranean where an untoward incident might furnish the tinder for touching off a powder keg spreading far beyond the Italo-Ethiopian dispute. These observers said they saw a grim and purposeful meaning in the speedy and steady mobilization by Great Britain and Italy of their best ships, airplanes, and troops along the danger point within the Mediterranean and its two entrances at Suez and Gibraltar. Meanwhile, both governments maintained official silence regarding the significance of their actions as officials of both countries anxiously studied developments.

An authoritative source asserted that the British air ministry was building up the royal air forces at strategic Mediterranean stations for any eventuality which might arise from the present dispute between Italy and Ethiopia.

LLOYD GEORGE SAYS WAR DUE IN WEEK BRADFORD, Eng., Sept. 19. (P)—David Lloyd George, Great Britain's World War prime minister, declared today: "We are within a week or a fortnight of war—a war of aggression."

"It will be as great a war of aggression as the attack of Germany upon Belgium," he said. "Quite frankly, I am alarmed. It seems to me the world is heading for a very great catastrophe."

7 HURT IN L. A. STRIKE RIOT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19. (P)—Seven persons were injured in a riot involving nearly 100 strike picketers and working employees in front of the Morris Furniture company at Forty-fifth and Alameda streets today.

Police said about 30 furniture strikers were picketing the factory when trouble broke out and that about 70 workers rushed from inside the building to join the melee. The most seriously hurt were George Hennen, 40, who received a fractured jaw and Walter Johnson, 50, and Nelson Martin, 49, broken ribs.

LAMSON SEEKS NEW COURT

SAN JOSE, Sept. 19. (P)—Motion for a change of venue in the third murder trial of David A. Lamson, former Stanford University press manager, was presented today to Superior Judge Robert R. Syer. The hearing was adjourned until September 30.

50 Bowls of Fish, 10 Dogs, Fat Lady, Boy in Two Rooms

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19. (P)—Roland M. Comfort, naval officer, wants a divorce and custody of his son, because, he charged in a complaint on file today, Helen E. Comfort lived with the boy in two rooms in which she kept 10 dogs and 50 bowls of fish.

Also contained in Mr. Comfort's complaint was the allegation that Mrs. Comfort set a bad example for her son by intemperate eating, her weight increasing from 140 to 220 pounds.

FALL CLOTHES ON DISPLAY

Merchants Here Open Doors Tonight for Fashion Preview

The shimmer and gleam of new fall clothes will ripple down the business streets of Santa Ana tonight as the city's stores don fall attire in window and interior decoration in celebration of the autumn festival of fashions.

From 7 to 9:30 o'clock, the merchants are to open their doors to play host to the city's public. Entertainment has been planned in some stores. Others are to present visitors with souvenirs.

Expecting even a larger crowd than attended the spring fashion revue, Walter Swanberger, in charge of promotion, said merchants were anticipating more than 10,000 visitors.

From Oceanside to Pomona, cars were expected to come to Santa Ana tonight to view the fashion display. Merchants from all nearby towns and cities had been invited by friends here to join the town in its style jubilee.

"The whole town is talking about the fall fashion preview," Mr. Swanberger says this morning. "Everybody knows it's going to be held and they're planning to come to the business district to see what merchants have planned for them."

New Models on Display Fall models that have been saved especially for the preview of styles will be brought out for inspection by the public. Materials and colors that style artists have heralded for the past month will be on actual display for Santa Anans. The Renaissance motif, broadcast as a fall feature throughout the summer, will make its bow in the swirl and grace of new frocks. Shoes will be shown that will copy the sandals and slippers of 15th century Venetians. (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4.)

ECCLES DIRECTS BANK REFORM

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 19. (P)—Marriner S. Eccles, exponent of "conscious monetary control," is President Roosevelt's choice to direct the new banking reform law. Mr. Eccles, head of the federal reserve system, will become the first chairman of the reorganized system when it goes into effect with increased powers next February.

Mr. Roosevelt designated Mr. Eccles to succeed himself last night. Six other members of the new board are to be named later.

Browning Not Opposed, But Passes Up Vote; Irvine 'Approves'

The board of directors of the Orange county water district fully indorses the county water program. It approves the voting of $6,620,000 in bonds to help finance the project and stands ready and willing to do anything in its power to aid the board of supervisors in carrying out the project.

A resolution, setting forth this position, was adopted by the directors yesterday afternoon at an adjourned meeting in Garden Grove. The resolution commends the supervisors for what they have done in an effort to secure federal aid for the water program.

Wallop Votes 'No' The only dissenting vote was recorded by William Wallop, Anaheim, superintendent of the Anaheim Union Water company, who already had made known his opposition. Roy Browning, Tustin, engineer for the Irvine company, did not vote.

W. C. Hauerhan, Katella, informed the rest of the board that "I'm going to vote for the program and I want this board to spend $1000 to put it over." He demanded to know if the board of directors can legally spend money to further the campaign, and the question was referred to A. W. Rutan, the board's legal counsel. Mr. Rutan said that off-hand he was of the opinion that it would be impossible for the directors to appropriate money for this purpose.

F.D.R. TO START DRIVE IN SOUTH

ATLANTA, Sept. 19. (P)—A challenge to the political strength of Gov. Eugene Talmadge was seen today by many Georgians in the published report that President Roosevelt would open his Southern campaign for renomination with a speech in Atlanta late in November.

Talmadge, Democratic governor and bitter critic of the President, was carrying on his fight against Mr. Roosevelt in a series of speeches in the Middle West when the Atlanta engagement was announced.

MOONEY 'RED' ANSWER OUT

Statements Stricken From Records by Prosecution

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19. (P)—Assertions of Thomas J. Mooney yesterday that he believed in "social revolution" and his views on the objects of the works of the world, were stricken from the record of his habeas corpus hearing before Referee A. E. Shaw today on the motion of Assistant Attorney General William Cleary.

The motion of the state came as a surprise at the opening of the second day of the internationally known prisoner's hearing. Yesterday Cleary obtained admission from Mooney that he believed in "social revolution" and his views on the objects of the works of the world, were stricken from the record of his habeas corpus hearing before Referee A. E. Shaw today on the motion of Assistant Attorney General William Cleary.

Mr. Cleary, at the opening of the day's proceedings, declared he believed "after considerable thought" that the questions asked on direct examination "had not opened the door for cross examination as far as I had thought."

"I desire to keep the record of this hearing as free from error as possible and want to eliminate all controversy and prejudice," he said. "I therefore move that all the questions asked on cross examination yesterday and the answers given, be stricken from the record." The motion was granted.

The reversal of the state's tactics in cross examination was followed by questions concerning Mooney's arrest at Guerneville, where he was vacationing five days after the Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco in 1916. Through answers to questions he told of being accused by Capt. James F. Brown of being implicated in the bombing and of the police grilling in San Francisco.

It was stipulated that the record of Mooney's original trial disclosed no witness, except John McDonald and Frank Oxman, had testified that Mooney was seen at the scene of the explosion.

M'LAUCHLAN HELD UNDER $5000 BAIL

Found Selling Asserted Communist Paper on Streets Here

HEARING IS MONDAY

Number of Pamphlets of Communism Are Found on Him

Charged with criminal syndicalism Charles McLauchlan, 27, of 1131 West Highland street, Santa Ana, an admitted Communist, was arrested here late yesterday by police.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace K. E. Morrison this morning, McLauchlan was placed under $5000 bail. Unable to make bail, he was returned to the county jail to await his preliminary hearing at 9 a. m. next Monday.

Found Selling Papers McLauchlan, who has frequently stated at public gatherings that he is a communist, was arrested by Officer Ralph Pantuso, who found McLauchlan allegedly selling copies of "El Machete," an assertedly communist paper printed in Spanish, in front of 917 Logan street.

In the first count of the complaint filed against McLauchlan by the district attorney's office, it is alleged that he, by "spoken and written word and personal conduct, did advocate and teach criminal syndicalism and the duty and propriety of committing crime, sabotage, violence and unlawful methods of terrorism as a means of accomplishing a change in industrial ownership and control, and of effecting a political change."

Arrested Once Before In the second count of the complaint, McLauchlan is charged with circulating books and other printed matter containing advice and teachings concerning criminal syndicalism, and also advocating criminal syndicalism.

At the time of McLauchlan's arrest, he allegedly had in his possession literature which officers charge is proof of his communist teachings. Chief of Police Floyd Howard said today that McLauchlan's arrest followed weeks of investigation. He said that during the six years McLauchlan has been a resident of Orange county he has been continuously agitated and unrest among the workers. McLauchlan, a member of the Worker's club, was arrested a year ago in Placentia for distributing (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 1.)

Ditch Dug By Anaheim Germans Forerunner Of Water Company

Right now most everybody in Orange county is thinking water. river were established by the Spaniards. The same pioneer work was done on the north side of the stream by Germans. It probably was only a coincidence that in Orange county these two races occupied the same relative position that the two nations occupy in Europe, the Spanish on the south and the Germans on the north. When the Yorbas and Peraltas carved their first crude ditches in the soil on the south side of the river a century ago, they could not possibly know that they were creating a basic title which was to make possible the later development of a great water company, the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company.

And when, shortly after 1857, a company of Germans from San Francisco dug a ditch tapping the river on the north side to irrigate their newly planted vineyards, they probably had no inkling that their work would be followed by the growth of the other big concern, the Anaheim Union Water company.

Both the Spaniards and the Germans undoubtedly were much more interested in their in-battles with a virgin soil in a pioneer country. The loss of water by seepage in the open dirt ditches was disheartening. At times only one-fourth of the water taken from the river actually reached the farms miles away.

LONG'S POLITICAL MACHINE SPLIT AS TWO CANDIDATES BOLT

PAIR TO SEEK ELECTION IN JANUARY

Lieut.-Gov. Noe Decides to Seek Governorship; Other Aims at Senate

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19. (P)—The political machine left by the late Senator Huey P. Long was split wide open today by announcements of Lieut.-Gov. James A. Noe for governor and Wade O. Martin, public service commissioner, for the United States senate, in the January primary.

The announcements, dropped like a bombshell in the ranks over the state and in the statehouse, Gov. O. K. Allen, who had said the state ticket would be chosen at a caucus to be called by him, refused to believe they were genuine announcements.

The governor closeted himself with a group of his associates and discussed the announcements feverishly. He said he could not conceive of Mr. Noe and Mr. Martin taking such steps without his sanction.

Later Mr. Noe and Mr. Martin joined the governor's conference.

Allen J. Ellender, confined to his bed with a cold, said he had not heard of the announcements but had nothing to say. Mr. Ellender had been prominently mentioned as a gubernatorial candidate.

Mr. Martin had been virtually selected to run for the unexpired term of the late Senator Long but the statements accompanying his announcement indicated he would offer for the regular six-year term beginning in January, 1937.

SHOES OF GRANDMA'S DAY

Goodwill Store Shows 'em

If the shoe pinches, and is decidedly old-fashioned, you'll see it tonight in the windows of the Goodwill store, 411 West Fourth street.

Likewise, you'll see a woolly black fascinator that once graced a feminine neck when grandma was a girl. Rustling black taffeta and lace, smart in the gay 'nineties, a curly red ostrich feather from somebody's dance fan, a cocky Civil war cap, a demure calico house frock and other fashions of yesteryear are being shown in the store windows.

A special feature of the display is an array of Godey's lady prints from the personal collection of Mrs. George Angne, who came from Los Angeles Sept. 1 with Mr. Angne, new Orange county director of Goodwill activities.

Mrs. Angne has also loaned several pieces of antique china-ware for the old-fashioned show.

The Goodwill workers are busy now preparing to move Saturday, Sept. 28, into their new, large location at Fourth and Van Ness streets.

100 HERE FOR CONVENTION OF W.C.T.U.

With 100 delegates from all parts of the county attending, the forty-sixth annual two-day convention of the Orange county W. C. T. U., held its opening session this morning in the First Methodist church.

An increase of 68 members over last year was noted by the treasurer, Mrs. Alma J. Kellogg, in her report of 852 members for the county this year. In the Loyal Temperance league, 116 children have been enlisted, Mrs. E. H. Bruner reported.

Mrs. Margaret Utt and Mrs. T. H. Walker led the salute to flags, and devotional were given by Mrs. T. H. Walker. Greetings were extended from the Santa Ana by Mrs. Amy Evans, with response by Mrs. Oneta Pike of Placentia.

WATER BONDS CAMPAIGN WELL DONE

Nothing has been left undone that will assist in securing federal approval of Orange county's $12,994,000 floor control project, A. Kempke, consulting engineer, told the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Kempke, a member of the board of engineering consultants employed by the county, returned yesterday from Washington, D. C., where he has spent several weeks in behalf of the project.

His opinion was that all possible work in the capital has been completed and the board of supervisors has done everything possible in the county to assure success of the project. All that remains, he said, is obtaining the federal approval and grant and approval of Orange county voters for the $6,620,000 bond issue.

Mr. Kempke was optimistic over prospects of government approval of the project. This approval will carry with it a grant of $6,374,000 for carrying on of the program under direction of army engineers.

He believes the engineering corps of the army favors the project on the belief that to conduct this project at the same time it is supervising Los Angeles county's flood control project it would reflect a more favorable light on the overhead of the division engineer's office in Los Angeles of both jobs can be done for the overhead as would be required for supervision of one job.

The engineering soundness of the project, he told the supervisors, was indicated by the fact that it has been inspected by six history of the community of Orange, says: "Mrs. Jennie Parker has a diary of her husband's which mentions hauling water in barrels to little orange trees rather than wait for the water to get down through the lateral. As it had to soak up three miles of freshly ploughed ditch, this sometimes took as much as three days."

The original ditch dug by the Anaheim colonists was seven miles long. It carried water to irrigate the 1165 acres bought by the settlers at two dollars an acre. In 1878 water failed early in the season at the head of the old canal. Without water, the people saw staring them in the face the threat that the vineyards they had nursed would revert to virtual desert.

Desperate, they bought a one-half interest in the Cajon Irrigation company ditch, which headed farther up the canyon. They built a flume 6970 feet long to connect the two canals and carry the half of the Cajon water they had acquired. The colonists thus received a more permanent water supply.

While this move solved the problem temporarily, it also laid the foundation for future trouble. Trouble which almost reached the shotgun stage. The ultimate solution of that friction was followed by the formation of the Anaheim Union Water company.

Cambon was born in Paris April 5, 1845, and became the better known half of the "Cambon Brothers" diplomatic teams of Jules and Paul Cambon, famous in the annals of the French foreign office. Paul, ambassador to England, died in 1924. Jules Cambon served five years in Washington and seven in Berlin.

tion, Mr. Wallop said he could not agree to the last paragraph, which pledged the directors to aid the supervisors in carrying out the water project.

"I don't intend to vote for it, and I don't want to be a hypocrite," he said.

After passing up his vote, Mr. Browning said, "At least a dozen property owners and business men in Tustin have asked me to vote against the resolution. I told them I didn't feel like I could oppose it because I've always been for flood control and water conservation. So all I can do is not to vote one way or the other."

He explained that the Tustin group opposed the bonds because they didn't want the added tax burden.

POLISH BALLOON FIRST IN RACE

MOSCOW, Sept. 19. (P)—The Polish balloon Polonia appeared today to have won the 27th Gordon Bennett international balloon race. It landed in Stalingrad province near the Caspian sea after covering 1054 miles from Warsaw, where it was cut loose Sunday.

All of the 13 entries are reported to have landed, the French Maurice Mallet and the German bag coming down last, in Western Russia. The others descended in various parts of the Soviet union and in Latvia.

The reported winner was piloted by Zbigniew Burzynski and navigated by Wladyslaw Wysocki. They landed on a farm near the town of Tishino at 6:15 p. m. (11:15 a. m. EST.) yesterday, lacking only five minutes of being 72 hours in the air.

$5 for Own Use

Men in the camp receive $30 each as their monthly pay. If they have dependents, $25 monthly is sent to the dependents. If the veterans are single, $25 is deposited with the camp quartermaster where it is held until the man is discharged from camp. Each man receives $5 monthly for his own use.

Veterans who have money deposited with the quartermaster can withdraw it only upon an affidavit that the money is needed to pay just debts.

"Many of the men," said Captain Thomas, "are signing such affidavits and using the money for the purchase of liquor."

The veteran, a former lieutenant in the aviation corps who was arrested in Santa Ana and charged with being drunk, came to camp yesterday afternoon after having been given a suspended sentence.

Irvine Favors Plan

"I don't know how Mr. Irvine stands," Mr. Browning said. "He's away on a fishing trip. But he does favor the Elliott plan." Mr. Browning said this does not necessarily mean Mr. Irvine favors the bonds.

The motion for adoption of the resolution was made by Mr. Maurehan and was seconded by Mayor Frank Champion, Laguna Beach.

The text of the resolution follows:

A demonstration of "a model meeting" was given by presidents of units within the district, including Mrs. Lucy Daugherty, Anaheim; Mrs. Minnie Reid, Costa Mesa; Mrs. Mamie Settle, El Modena; Mrs. Cora Hale, Fullerton; Mrs. Estella Harper, Garden Grove; Mrs. Harriet Ridenour, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Annie Garretson, La Habra; Mrs. Flora Beatty, Newport Beach; Mrs. Minnie Neville, Orange; Mrs. Oneta Pike, Placentia; Mrs. Amy Evans, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Margaret Utt, Tustin.

First Case of Kind

Following are some of the titles of books and pamphlets assertedly found in McLaughlan's possession when he was arrested yesterday: "The Negro in Soviet America," "Understanding of Soviet Russia," "Foundations of Leninism," "In a Soviet America—The Miner's Road to Freedom," "Seamen and Longshoremen Under the Red Flag," "The Lenin Heritage," "The Communist Manifesto by Karl Marx," "Permanent Counter Revolution," and "White Guard Terrorism in the United States."

McLaughlan also assertedly had in his possession several application blanks for membership in the Communist party.

So far as is known, this is the first time that an arrest on such a charge has been made in Orange county, police said.

'Pitiful Sight'

"He was one of the most pitiful sights that I have ever seen," the camp commander said. "His government issue shoes, trousers, shirt, blouse and hat were gone. In their place were matted shoes and a suit of denims that looked as though they had been taken from a trash heap. The man told me that the proprietor of a liquor 'joint' had taken the clothes in payment for liquor. He said the first thing he can recall is being arrested in Santa Ana. How he reached there is a mystery to him."

Resolution Text

"Whereas, the board of directors of the Orange county water district is informed that the board of supervisors of the Orange county flood control district has secured the approval of the proper governmental authorities to the flood control plan for Orange county, known as the 'Elliott plan,' and will, in all probability, secure from the government a large appropriation to be applied to the total cost of the same; and,

"Whereas this board is further informed that with the help of Paul Bailey, consulting engineer for this board, all differences as to waters and the right to use waters in the Santa Ana river have been adjusted and agreed upon between the flood control district and the two major water companies using water from said river, and there is now no organized opposition to said plan;

Craig Speaks Tonight

Edward (Ted) Craig, Brea, speaker of the state assembly, will be in Santa Ana tonight to address delegates and friends at the 7:30 o'clock session at the First Methodist church.

The Legislature and What Was Done" will be the topic of his talk. Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler, state president, will also tell of her experiences at the last legislative session, where she was active in obtaining support of liquor control measures.

The Rev. Samuel Edgar, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church, will give the devotions. A quartet, composed of Howard Jerome, Ira W. MacNames, Harold Kyle and Roy Chiles, will sing.

Session Tomorrow

Tomorrow morning, the credentials committee will make its reports and officers will be elected. Directors will each speak two minutes.

Devolitional services tomorrow afternoon will be led by the Rev. Dr. George A. Warner, and Mrs. Wheeler will make her second talk. Resolutions will be passed at that time.

Officers in charge of the event are: Mrs. Lola Grimm, president; Mrs. Oneta Pike, first vice president; Mrs. Cora Hale, second vice president; Mrs. Sarah Brown, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Warren, recording secretary; Mrs. Edith Moore, assistant recording secretary; Mrs. Alma J. Kellogg, treasurer; and Mrs. Edna Leonard, assistant treasurer.

building program and replace the old structure will be explained. Following this session those present will be conducted around the plant.

Four rooms in the administration building were closed immediately after the earthquake, branded as unsafe. Four other rooms in the west building since have been closed. The auditorium cannot be used.

Mr. Hays said today that if the buildings were safe the school board would not have called the $180,000 bond election to replace them. The matter is one of safety for the children, he said.

J. C. SOPHS TO ELECT CLASS LEADERS TOMORROW

Officers for the sophomore class at Santa Ana Junior college will be elected tomorrow from a panel of nominees submitted at a meeting of the class yesterday.

In the race for president are Bill Dolan, Al Markel, John Rabe and Kenneth Stowell. For vice president, the office will be given to Charles Kiser, Dick Moore or John Haskell. Eunice Spicer is the lone candidate for secretary. Those running for treasurer are Wayne Wilhite, Jean McAuley, Helen Wilkie and Armand Hanson.

TUSTIN HEARS WATER TALKS

Tustin farm center members last night heard the county water program explained by Supervisor N. E. West, Laguna Beach, and Murray N. Thompson, county flood control engineer. At the meeting in the Tustin High school cafeteria, John W. Crill, president of the farm bureau, and W. C. Mauerman, director in the county water district board, spoke in favor of the $6,620,000 bond issue proposed for financing the county's share of the water project.

Although no action was taken officially, the group present seemed to be in accord with the program, it was reported. No opposition was heard.

Mr. West, in his talk, dealt chiefly with economic phases of the water program and said that while a maximum tax increase of about 20 cents might result from passage of the bond issue, offsets and economies should bring the rate down considerably. Rights of way may be secured for less than the amount now set up, and employment of labor should reduce the relief burden, he said.

MORE ABOUT FALL STYLES

Mannequins will model the new styles at several of the stores. Ready-to-wear specialists will be on hand to explain the new trends in design and color.

Music Is Planned

In addition to individual store entertainment, two musical groups have been obtained by the retail merchants' division of the chamber of commerce to parade the business streets. T. Dunstan Collins' 30-piece Boy Scout band will march along the business section, while a Santa Ana Junior college trumpet quartet under Leland Auer will be taken through the downtown streets by a truck furnished by George Dunton, Ford dealer.

LITTLE AMERICA RIGHT IN YOUR OWN BACK YARD

FAR UP in the High Sierras—in your own back yard—we have conditions comparable to Little America. It is here that the important hydro-electric plants of the Edison Company are located. While building these plants, men were subjected to similar conditions—similar hardships and isolation as Admiral Byrd and his men. Winter after winter dog teams made daily trips through twenty-foot snow drifts and disheartening blizzards, hauling a sledge-load of mail to the marooned tunnel workers in the snow-bound Edison Camps.

But the Edison pioneers differed from practically all other explorers. These men were tapping a great source of electric power to be used in the homes, factories and on the farms of Central and Southern California.

They were building dams... erecting power plants to generate electric power... running cables to convey that energy to substations, which in turn delivers it to your switch, thereby contributing to your comfort in your home and your prosperity in your business.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA EDISON COMPANY LTD. HARRY J. BAUER, President

A community enterprise... today as always, contributing to and anticipating the assured growth and progress of Central and Southern California

JERRY DWYER DELIVERED MAIL to hundreds of snow-bound workers, driving a team of Alaskan dogs far into the High Sierras.

REAL ESTATE BROKERS TO BE GIVEN FREE LICENSES IN ORANGE

COUNCIL IS ASKED FOR RELIEF

Dealers Must Show That Tax Works Hardship; Petition Offered

ORANGE.—Real estate brokers who can convince the Orange city council that the annual $12 fee for operation of the business works a hardship, will be allowed to operate without charge in the city, it was decided at the regular council meeting last night.

E. L. Ferking presented the council with a petition bearing names of all but three brokers in the city, requesting that such action be taken, as the state also levies a charge on the brokers. The petition requested a change in ordinance 193. The petition was tabled, but brokers asked to appear before the group.

A helper with pay not to exceed $10 a month and be hired as needed, was allowed Judge Swayze of the municipal court. Arthur H. Heim, councilman, was appointed to act on the committee of the Orange county planning commission in regard to the proposed Santiago park. This commission will meet in Santa Ana Oct. 31.

Word was received from the state highway commission that the street paving proposition is progressing nicely and has been forwarded to Washington.

An ordinance was given its first reading which will prohibit vegetable stands extending on the sidewalk from the edge of buildings for two and one-half feet as was previously allowed. All sidewalks must be kept cleared and overhead banners and overhanging signs which interfere with pedestrians eliminated. The ordinance will go in effect in 30 days.

Mayor C. J. Hessel signed a proclamation upon request of the P. T. A., designating the coming week as P. T. A. membership week, when a drive for members will be made.

Brick Dust

We learned things about Assemblyman Jimmy Utt at a meeting of the Coast association at San Clemente.

Jimmy drank too much of the wrong kind of water. President Dan Mulholland apologized for apparent physical weakness of the popular legislator, explaining that he'd been to Mexico and drank too much—water. That didn't sound so good, so the situation was cleared up. When Jimmy explained that he'd been tempted to drink from a spring. The water tasted sorta funny, he said, but he didn't think that just a little bit would hurt him any.

He found out differently. The water had silver nitrate or something else poisonous in it. He said that the poison killed cows and wasn't it lucky that he wasn't a cow?

He had recovered sufficiently to make a fine speech at the meeting, however.

Others seen at the Coast meeting: Carl Hankey, Capistrano, talking about peach and flow-ers and schools. Claude Lindsey talking about railroads and railroads and railroads. He's one of the best advertisers we've ever seen. When last seen he was still worrying Roy Browning about whether butter served at the meal came from San Joaquin valley or from Orange county. Supervisor Jerome, making a fine bicycle speech. J. P. Greeley, the boatman from Balboa, enjoying an excellent meal. Sam Meyer, looking for a story, as usual. George Raymer, being friendly. Bert Maxwell, Capistrano publisher, sitting in "newspaper row." Dr. C. G. Huston, the Costa Mesa bicycle lane advocate. D. W. Tubbs. Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Smith—yes, he's still mayor of San Clemente. Mr. and Mrs. David Prenter, Dana Pointers. Dozens of others at a well-attended meeting.

The Coast association gave beautiful little ships to be used as paperweights, to Senator Edwards, Speaker Craig and Assemblyman Utt. They were in appreciation for work done by the legislators in behalf of the fishing reserve bill.

They were gold-plated. V. D. Johnson warned the receivers that the gold should be returned to the government. Offered to take charge of all three gifts, to see that they were turned over to the proper authorities.

We noticed that Jimmy Utt hid his right afterward.

Those little yachts, mounted on a golden base, with the sail on a rotating mast so that the three men could "see how the political winds were blowing," caused much laughter. They were placed before the honored guests as the dinner started. When Assemblyman Utt was introduced, he began thanking the association for the gift. President Mulholland explained that he hadn't even received it yet. Chances for an argument were lost when the assemblyman gave up without a struggle.

We saw one of those yachts at Harry Welch's office earlier in the week. He doesn't know how close he came to having only two for his guests. We still think it'd

Large Field In Farm Girl Race

One of the major events each year at Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona is the farmette contest in which sturdy farm girls from all parts of the southland match their skill at milking, churning, hay pitching, etc. The contest this year will be held Saturday, Sept. 20, with the largest number of entries yet. They represent various nationalities and the winner is declared the champion of the southland. Here are a few of the maidens in training.

MOTHERS TURN EDITORS! P. T. A. To Publish Paper

TUSTIN.—The Tustin High School P. T. A. is publishing the Tustin News this week, for the purpose of financing their yearly budget. Profits will be used for child welfare in the Tustin school. Milk and lunches will be furnished to those who are unable to provide their own. The Broadcaster and the Audion, publications of the high school, also receive aid if necessary.

Published in this issue of the News will be greetings from Governor Frank Merriam; Mrs. W. T. Kirvin, president of the fourth district P. T. A.; Ray Adkinson, county school superintendent; past presidents of the high school P. T. A., including Mrs. Charles Bowman, A. M. Lindsey, Mrs. D. D. Fields, Mrs. John Crawford, Mrs. A. M. Robinson, Mrs. Fred Wilson, Mrs. Frank Greenwood, Mrs. R. L. Stearns and Mrs. W. W. Tanti-linger. A memorandum will be inserted for Mrs. C. A. Samuelson, who served as president during 1926 and 1927.

LEGION WOMEN WEST ORANGE GROUP MEETS

ORANGE.—Past Presidents association of the American Legion auxiliary held an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Dolores Goodwin on Tuesday. Time was spent in sewing, with a guessing game played in the afternoon. A prize was awarded Mrs. Ruth Jellis of Santa Ana.

Attending were Mrs. E. S. Matthews, Mrs. Nora McCulla, Mrs. Agnes Stumbl, Mrs. Louise Tubbs, Mrs. Florence Robertson, Mrs. Fannie E. Reeves and Mrs. Jellis, all of Santa Ana; Mrs. Lois Corcoran, Fullerton; Mrs. Flora Fairbairn, Celia Bryant, Anna Slater, Clara Haines, E. C. Frevert and Miss Maud Sisson of Orange.

NEW COSTA MESA SCHOOL INSPECTED BY LIONS CLUB

COSTA MESA.—Members of the Costa Mesa Lions club inspected the newly-completed Union elementary school here Tuesday as a part of the program of the regular weekly meeting.

Superintendent of Schools Henry Abrams was in charge of the event.

look fine on a newspaper desk.

We've found the county's most popular police chief.

It's Gus Barnes, in Placentia. At least he's 99.9 per cent popular.

Recently two councilmen thought maybe Gus'd better resign. Residents heard about it and immediately started circulating petitions. Every merchant in the community but one, signed, asking the council to retain Gus. But the queerest part of the whole thing was that residents whom council members reported asked for dismissal of the chief, were among signers—what to do?

And then there was that hitch-hiker over near Tustin.

Remembering advice from many sources about picking up strange men, we sailed right by. Apparently the hitch-hiker didn't like it, because he placed his thumb to his nose for a parting shot.

So we turned back and picked him up.

"Just made me mad to see the cars sailing right by, when I had to walk," he said.

After all, we didn't blame him much.

We're going to the dedication of that lookout tower on Gilman peak over near Yorba Linda Saturday. For some time we've eyed another lookout, on the Ortega highway above Capistrano, with envy, knowing very well that there'd be a story 'way up there. But you should see that road! It goes practically straight up and has several nice zigzags and at least two zigzags thrown in for good measure, so we've let the story go begging. Maybe the Gilman peak one will be easier to reach.

WOMAN'S CLUB P. T. A. HEAD IS MEETING HELD ELECTED

BUENA PARK.—The year's first meeting for the Buena Park Woman's club was scheduled for today, starting with a 12:30 p. m. pot-luck dinner.

At a recent executive board meeting, plans were made for two benefits. Members voted to donate use of the clubhouse to the woman's assistant board of sponsorship for the local troop of Boy Scouts for a benefit party early next month. A public card party will be held Oct. 11, it has been announced by Mrs. F. H. Cooley, chairman of the finance committee.

A theater party is also planned by the group.

Coast Li-n-e-s

By McDONALD WHITE

"Captain Blood" and all his faithful pirates dropped anchor in Laguna the first of the week, but unlike the adventurous days of old the captain and all the officers registered at the biggest hotel in town. And right across the street from the bank, so they can conveniently cache their loot! Yessir, smart lads, these modern, unbarbered pirates from the good ship "Arabella."

Right up there at that gorgeously clear bay of Three Arches is where the gory captain and all his hoary henchmen are stalking the torrid palm-grown shore of an island retreat. Beaten paths form a background for these bright-colored seafarers to trudge over with their gold-laden chests and kegs of fiery rum. All to the tune of, mind you, "Hold it! Queer more! Action!" Michael Curtiz, famous director, lives and breathes every scene of this romantic costume picture from the shade of his rajah-like tent near the scene of action.

"Action!" The pirates move up the path with their iron-bound chests, struggling, laboring with every step. No matter how heavy these chests are, the action must seem realistic. That's up to the director to decide. He doesn't sit in a canvas-backed chair any more, he has all of his equipment around him, and issues orders through a series of loud speakers that can be heard for blocks away.

But let's go back and start at the beginning. First a crew of engineers and carpenters arrived on the bluffs of Three Arches. They constructed a wooden track for a hoist down over the steep cliff. That was no easy job, some 150 feet or more to the bottom. But the job was completed and then a cable run from the hoist car, through a pulley to a truck that has supplied the motive power ever since. This hoist makes it possible to lower all the paraphernalia down to the beach.

A big tent for general use was set up, the director's tent, and several portable dressing rooms and make-up tables assembled. Palm trees, imitation except for their real palm fronds, were planted within shooting range of the cameras, and other minor details of background were fixed. Then on Monday the shooting began in earnest. At noon an announcement crackled over the amplifiers that 30 minutes would be allowed for lunch. Pirates, continuity girls, cameramen, everybody but the principals, got in line for the lunch boxes that were distributed. One barrel-chested husky said, "Hell, I feed my canary more than this!" But everyone else seemed contented with their fare and some even took a quick dip in the ocean to work up an appetite.

After lunch work went with renewed vigor. The leading man in Sabatini's adventurous drama, "Captain Blood," is Errol Flynn, who, incidentally, recently married Lily Damita. Then there's beautiful Olivia De Havilland, young 19-year-old English actress, who proved herself as poised a lady as ever seen under any circumstances. And Guy Kibbee, head officer of the pirate gunners. Poor Basil Rathbone has a duel with Captain Blood and gets killed, but he has a "good" part nevertheless. J. Carol Naish is the villain of the piece or one of them. Then there is Robert Barrat and Ross Alexander, who escaped from the West Indies with Captain Blood and became a pirate with him, so the story goes.

The movies have been coming down to Laguna on location for 10 years or more. There is scarcely a rocky portion of the beach that hasn't at some time or other been "shot." Dozens of cameras now in glaring lights on hundreds of main streets once frolicked before the flickers to the tune of seven-fifty a day with room and meals. (Alice White played her first part at Emerald Bay in 1926. First National was working late; it was midnight, cold. The scene was a boat landing. Everybody got wet. Huge bonfires burned high to warm them between scenes. A girl fainted, was revived with gin out of a tin cup. Dr. Mason was called.

Mary Astor asked, "Has the French Count got a match?" Obligated Polly Moran was a sober-minded extra lolling on the beach waiting for the mob scene to start, then. In another picture on location down by the old pier Norman Kerry was the hero of the hour. Everything changes but the coast line. Somehow that couldn't be improved.

Moer about Laguna writers: Harold C. Wire has gone on a tour of the Nevada mining towns in search of western story material. Bob Lightford is back in town for the winter to grind out some more detective thrillers. Ernest Paynter is due back in another month.

Don't forget that October 14 is the day to vote on the pier bonds. And in the meantime cast your ballot—whether you want a real pier or a breakwater. Just think, with a long, good-looking pier you could get a front view of the town, and that's worth gazing at any day of the week. Or still better at night with the story reflections on the water. Now there's a gate in front of the old one. We need a new pier, one that won't have to be condemned in a few years.

DEER HUNTERS DRAW BLANK

ORANGE.—M. L. Reed and Dr. D. A. Wood returned early yesterday from a deer hunting trip in Sequoia National park. Neither hunter secured a deer, both reporting that game is very scarce in the park. They said that 642 hunters checked in at the south end of the park on the opening day of the hunting season, but at the time the local party checked out on Tuesday, but 24 deer had been killed.

Dr. Wood saw one big buck, but like the biggest fish, he got away.

P. T. A. PLANS RECEPTION

GARDEN GROVE.—The high school faculty will be feted at a reception by the high school P. T. A. next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the school gymnasium, the association president, Mrs. J. G. Allen, announced today.

Committees are planning a program and other entertainment, Mrs. Allen said.

SONS OF LEGION HAVE DINNER

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Mothers of the Sons of the Legion gave a dinner in honor of the junior Legion group at Memorial hall Tuesday evening with 24 members present.

W. N. Cookerly, Legionnaire, talked to the boys about Sons of the Legion work and of their connection with the American Legion. Ed Allen and Ben Dalaney were other Legionnaires present. Besides the mothers that served the dinner there were three auxiliary members who are not mothers of boys. They were Mrs. Ben Dalaney, Mrs. J. K. Sargent and Mrs. William Hunter.

EL MODENA.—The first meeting of the El Modena P. T. A. was given over principally to election of a new president to take the place of Mrs. William Krueger, who has resigned recently. The meeting was held Tuesday afternoon in the kindergarten room of the Roosevelt building.

Miss Anna Williamson, a former eighth grade teacher and president of the P. T. A. seven years ago, was elected president. Mrs. W. C. Armstrong, program chairman, gave an outline of programs to be held during the coming year. Miss Idabel Durgan, public health nurse of Santa Ana, gave a talk on health in the home.

A musical program was furnished by the music department of Orange Union high school under direction of Miss Phyllis Lucy Keyes. Phyllis Kogler and Llewellyn Williams sang, accompanied by Miss Alice Des Larzes.

It was announced that a pot-luck dinner and teachers' reception will be held some time in October. Refreshments were served by the eighth grade mothers with Mrs. Joseph Bricke chairman of the committee.

METHODIST GROUP HAS MEETING AT GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE.—Representatives of young people's organizations of the First Methodist church met for a dinner at the church Tuesday evening and to discuss plans for the year's work.

James McGiffin of Los Angeles, director of young people's work for the Southern California Methodist conference, addressed the group.

BEAN PLANT WORK STARTS SAILBOAT TO RACE KAYAK AT BEACH

1935 Crop Is Short, Report

GARDEN GROVE.—Threshing beans in the Garden Grove district has been under way for over two weeks but not enough had been received at the plant of the Garden Grove Bean Growers association to start cleaning operations until this week, when 24 women started preparing the 1935 crop for market.

The crop generally is anticipated to be 25 per cent shorter than that of last year, due to the hot weather during August, but no estimate of the local shortage can be made until the entire crop has been harvested. The principal damage from the heat was in shortening of the crop, with other damage confined to heat blisters, discoloration and sun bakes.

During 1934 the Garden Grove house handled 35,000 sacks.

Beans entering the house are first put through a mill which removes the chaff, dirt, split and small beans. They are then passed over a belt where women complete the cleaning process by hand, picking out all other beans not fit for market.

It is too early in the season safely to estimate the price growers will receive for their crop, officials state. However, the opening quotation was $4.75 a hundred and price has now risen to over $5.

Limas are the principal crop handled by the house, although this year there was considerable acreage planted to black-eyes. Members of the house are located south of Garden Grove, others are from Yorba Linda, Buena Park and in territory adjacent to Irvine park. Beans from the house are shipped to all parts of the United States, and through buyers in New York who buy and redistribute may even go into foreign markets, the house manager, W. M. Adland stated.

YACHT AWARDS TUSTIN GROUP HAS PARTY

NEWPORT BEACH.—Plans were announced nearly completed here today for presentation of trophies to winners of the monthly "snowbird" series of races to winners of the events at a ceremony on Sept. 28 at the Newport Harbor Yacht club.

L. G. Swales, manager, said that a full list of winners will be announced later. Mr. Swales is managing the club since the recent resignation of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Scott as manager and hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Beardsley of Uplands left the Newport Harbor Yacht club this week in their boat, the "Amonta," for a two-week stay at San Diego.

METHODIST GROUP HAS MEETING AT GARDEN GROVE

James McGiffin of Los Angeles, director of young people's work for the Southern California Methodist conference, addressed the group.

TUSTIN.—Members of the Sunshine girls of the Pythian Sisters of Tustin were guests of Drs. James and Estelle Workman at their home at 1905 Valencia drive, Santa Ana, Tuesday evening.

Games were played and motion pictures of the drill team shown. Present at the meeting were Miss Thelma Trickey, Virginia Matthews, Marion Baxter, Barbara Kiser, Genevieve King, Paula Purvis, Betty Lou Hanford, Dorothy Heil, Velma Williams, Betty Brooks, Shirley Phelps, Una Crawford, Alberta Pollard, Thelma Hansen, Virginia Pollard, Vera Scott, Ladema Page, Helen Mitchell, Gracie Stone, and Mesdames Sarah May Matthews, Beulah Hamilton, Mary Thompson, Bertha Trickey, Jennie Stone and Edith Matthews.

Officials of the meet will be "Hook" Beardslee, M. S. Robinson, R. A. Marsden, head of Fullerton Kayak club; W. H. Austin, head of the Santa Barbara Kayak club; Frank Davenport of Long Beach; W. J. Anglemeyer of Santa Monica; Myron Lehman, crew of the famous international star boat "By-C"; and Ralph K. Reed, athletic director Newport Harbor Union High school.

Emily knew she owed her parents a great deal—in the little Alabama town where the Feltons were so important she was brought up to realize that.

So it wasn't surprising that when Mrs. Felton picked the "right" man for Emily, everybody considered the question of marriage settled and awaiting only such details as setting the date and buying the trousseau.

Nor had Emily any wish to uproot the traditions of this household where Duty was thought of in capital letters. Family ties held her fast. How, finally, she is able to free herself and retain the love of her parents is told in "Morning Star," one of the most fascinating romances of the year.

BEING MOSTLY WHAT OTHERS THINK AND SAY

Bill Terry is not making any cracks about Brooklyn this year and is reserving any obnoxious observations about others for the calm privacy of his boudoir. But he did have something to say about Chicago's rampaging Cubs today.

"The Cubs will come through," he remarked, and didn't once mention his slipping Giants. "The way they are playing—why, they're way over their heads. Just like the Cards last year. Everything they do turns out in their favor. It's just one of those things nobody can explain."

The Cubs, in case you haven't been paying attention, have licked the Giants in 10 of their 11 last games. Their 15-games-in-a-line record ties the National league's best winning streak in 11 years. Brooklyn did it in 1924.

After they close with the Giants today, the Cubs will be introduced for a pair of contests and then head for St. Louis and the windup. The Chicagoans figure they can trim the Giants again, take both from Pittsburgh and polish off the Cards with a single win. The first victory over the 1934 champs, they figure, will be the straw that shakes the gaz house gang loose from its hopes. The boys are nervous.

Today's Baer-Louis' note: Louis will delay his honeymoon so he can watch the Detroit Tigers play in the world's series. . . . One reason Joe is anxious to get the fight over is because they have cut down his fried chicken allowance. . . . Experts predict the battle will put $25,000,000 into New York. . . . Paul Cavaliere, a boxer, has worked in both camps, can't decide between Baer and Louis. . . . Promoter Mike Jacobs, goofy as it may sound, is hoping the fight won't lure a million-dollar gate. . . . It draws more than $800,000. Jacobs will have to enlarge the seating in accordance and at three gauds per seat. . . . and there's no gravy there.

Don't believe it if they tell you Babe Ruth has been signed to manage the Giants if Bill Terry fails to deliver a pennant. . . . Babe Diridkron split 70-30 on their recent golf tour. . . . Today's puzzle: Who got the fat end?

Grid fashion note: Stanford will present the "Y" formation this year. . . . Two wing backs flanking the ends and the quarterback and fullback three yards behind and a yard to either side of the center. . . . Thornhill says it's adapted particularly for passing.

Whew! The great Chicago winning streak is hard on the laundry business. . . . Since the Cubs started their victory string the players have refused to change to freshly laundered uniforms. Evidently they play better than they smell.

O'DOUL'S DRIVE SAVES SEALS

By the Associated Press

Regardless of the outcome of the Pacific Coast league pennant race, now in its last week, someone should plant a laurel wreath on the brow of Frank "Lefty" O'Doul, manager of the San Francisco Seals.

Three times in as many weeks O'Doul, twice batting king of the National league, has stepped into the lineup to bang out a hit which won an extra-inning ball game for his club. Those three victories just about represent the two and a half game lead the Seals now hold over the fast-traveling San Francisco Missions.

O'Doul's latest come-through performance gave the Seals a 10-6 victory over the Seattle Indians yesterday and enabled them to hold a margin threatened by the Missions' 10-4 win over Hollywood.

The Portland Beavers bowed their second straight tie to Oakland, 7-5, and all but bowed out of the pennant picture. Four and a half games behind with five to play, their mathematical chances are as slim as possible without being nil.

Coach Dana X. Bible of the University of Nebraska faces the task of replacing two of the biggest tackles he ever had. Russell Thompson and Walter Pflum, who scaled around 235.

TAKING A CUE from their overseas cousins, the U. S. tennis and golf associations adopted British methods for their big tournaments. The national singles tennis meet at Forest Hills was put on "Wimbledon style," with men and women playing at the same time, and the amateur golf at Cleveland was all match play.

CARDOZA PUT ON AGAINST BEACH LAD

Light-Heavies Tangle in Re-staging Here of Torrid Battle

Two of the most rugged, hard-hitting light-heavyweights in the amateur ranks—"Fighting" Frankie Herrera, Los Alamitos "Iron-man," and Sailor Jack Hipps of the U. S. S. Pensacola, now anchored off Long Beach—meet in their much-talked-about rematch tonight at the Orange County Boxing club. Tonight marks Sam Sampson's initial venture as a promoter-matchmaker and the lowering of 300 gallery seats to 20 cents per copy.

Last Thursday night Hipps and Herrera had the regular customers at the 101 highway arena cheering wildly as they stood toe to toe and slugged for four rounds, with the Mexican puncher coming from behind in the closing count to take the play away from the sturdy navy scrapper.

That last-round rally earned the Los Alamitos Mexican no little respect, plenty of admiration and a return crack at the Pensacola 175-pounder.

Frankie Has Plenty No Mexican in this section since the fighting days of such stars as Zenaydo Chavez, Wildman Macias and Indian Jimmy Rivers had more on the mitt than did Herrera. He not only absorbed socks on the button that would have dropped a less sturdy scrapper, but actually lowered his guard and let Hipps take his best shots at him in the third round.

One of Hipps' hardest wallops dropped Herrera for a nine-count but it failed to slow him up.

No little color and plenty of fireworks can be expected from the preliminary card, which finds Lupe Cardoza, the Ontario featherweight, meeting Gilbert Lopez of Wilmington in the semi-wind-up.

Martinez Meets Saucedo Cardoza is a main event and recently staged a sizzling battle against Don Benzoer here. Eddie Martinez and Paul Saucedo, of Anaheim mix in the special card.

Miller Fonseca in another exceptionally attractive match. The sailor scored a quick and clean-cut kayo last week, but in Fonseca runs into slightly tougher bait.

If Sampson's luck holds out he will have Don Kruger, U. S. C. heavyweight meeting Sailor Dye, Baby Rosales, Placentia, opposing Phil Ortiz, Frankie Martinez battling Lyle Triplett and Johnny Schantre opening the show with Danny Rameriz.

Max Hits Scribe! Bad Baer Boy Ready for Joe

By EDWARD J. NEIL

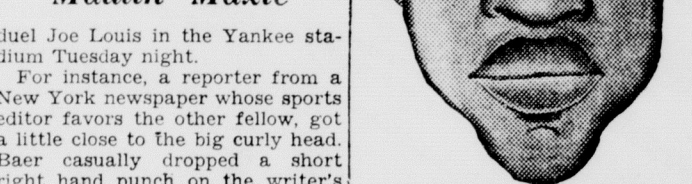

SPECULATOR, N. Y., Sept. 19. (AP)—Max Baer is a little "edgy" today, a little argumentative.

If you take those signs as indications of perfect physical condition, which fight handlers do, then the erratic Californian is ready to training, have made a magnificent physical specimen of the former heavyweight champion, but the unusual ordeal has left the night club favorite healthy to a degree bordering on a nervous breakdown.

Max and his brother, Buddy, another promising heavyweight, are getting farther and farther apart. There may be a fine warm-up battle there before Max gets into the ring with the Negro sensation.

Baer will cut down sharply on his boxing from now on, though he plans to put on the gloves every day through Sunday. He will scale about 208 next Tuesday. Ticket sales indicate a sell-out and duel Joe Louis in the Yankee stadium Tuesday night.

For instance, a reporter from a New York newspaper whose sports editor favors the other fellow, got a little close to the big curly head. Baer casually dropped a short right hand punch on the writer's shoulder.

"Take that back to your editor," he growled.

Now the reporter can't write on a typewriter. He has to dictate his stories.

Baer is getting mean in his training ring. Down so fine at 211 pounds that some of the visiting trainers and experts crowding his camp think he is overdoing it. Max is evening up for past indignities.

He smashed George Turner of Tulsa around yesterday, after the 19-year-old 190-pounder had made a punching bag of him for a couple of days. He knocked down Abe Feldman, a real heavyweight, for the first time in Feldman's busy career.

Life is miserable now for Baer's housemates in the log cabin four miles up in the Adirondack hills. Lights automatically shut off from the town power plant at 10 p. m.

No radio, no smoking, nothing but the right food, road work.

PIGSKIN PREVIEW

Nebraska Gridders to Have Speed, Air Work

(This is another of a series on major league football prospects for 1935.)

A LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 19. (AP)—A diversified running offense with plenty of speed and supplemented by a sparkling aerial attack will be the principal asset of the 1935 University of Nebraska football team if Coach Dana X. Bible perfects his plans.

Despite the greater stress on the aerial game this year, Bible is content to base the Cornhuskers' play on a "sound running attack." He hastened to explain, however, he was emphasizing speed and preparing a set of passes for use as a deceptive measure.

"After all," the diminutive coach explained, "forward passes are good only when you have a good passer and a dry field. We will attempt to be prepared for all occasions."

Bible said Nebraska's ends this year were as good as the Cornhuskers have had in his six years here. He has four of them who are outstanding. He has a wealth of good backs, including good punters and passers.

But the line between the ends and reserves for those positions are his worry. Another thing that furrows his brow is the schedule, which includes, besides games with the other big six conference teams, contests with Chicago university, Minnesota, Oregon State college and Pittsburgh.

COLLEGE MAY LOSE RANGY WINGMAN

Pasadena Grooms Negro Threats for Contest at Bowl Tomorrow

Minor injuries and withdrawals cast a bombshell into Santa Ana Junior college's football ranks today, as the Dons went through a final workout for their non-conference game with Pasadena at the Municipal bowl tomorrow night.

Anaheim's choice contributions—DeForest Fee, rangy end; and John Meyers, burly tackle—may be lost temporarily to Coaches Bill Cook and Al Reboin, while four others—Charles Robinson, guard; Ellsworth Teter, end; John Forsyth, center; and Murray Patton, quarter—have checked in their suits.

Meyers injured

Fee, potential regular at the left wing, failed to report for drill at the Municipal bowl yesterday, and it was understood he will be out indefinitely because of the illness of his father. Meyers was dazed when hit hard in scrimmage, and may not be in condition to open at tackle.

Teter, promising recruit from Tustin, was forced to turn in his uniform because of other after-school duties.

Bill Greschner, end, is ailing with a bruised ankle, and Tackle Ray Devine is recovering from a facial injury. Both will be ready for Pasadena, however.

Quarterback Bruce Harnois, letterman, also is handicapped with an injured leg.

The Don coaches will not select their lineup for Pasadena until after today's workout, but it is safe to say that Joe Herbert or Oliver McCarty, quarterbacks; Walt Hickman and John Lehn, halfbacks; and Dick Moore, fullback, will be in the backfield at the kick-off. Experience probably will give Harold Youel the call at center, although Garden Grove's Sam Rugg will be an early substitute.

Others to Work

Dick DeSmet and Howard Rash, ex-Saints, will be among the first to draw the guard assignments. Clarence Bolton, Ray Devine, Art Craft, Charley Roemer and Fred Pinkston all will receive a try-out tackle. The starting ends will be chosen from Al Titterton, Bob Spray, Bill Greschner, Jack Wilson, George Snokelburg and Fred Erdhaus.

Pasadena will have two Negro threats—Ralph Riddle, lanky end who punts brilliantly, and Marvin Wright, tackle. The starting ends will be chosen from Al Titterton, Bob Spray, Bill Greschner, Jack Wilson, George Snokelburg and Fred Erdhaus.

SMITH UMPIRES AT COLTON

Consideration of applications from Whittier and San Pedro for franchises, and another heated discussion of proposed changes in ground rules will come before National Night Ball league members at their annual fall meeting in November.

Walter Wentz, president of the National wheel, today named Stewart (Shorty) Smith of Brea as this league's umpire for the opening Huntington Beach-Colton game in the Southern California play-offs at Colton tomorrow night. The National league will furnish two of the three arbiters for games held at Huntington Beach. Second game of the four-out-of-seven series will be played in the Oiler park next Tuesday night.

Most of the Santa Ana Stars have checked in their uniforms since losing the title to Huntington Beach here Tuesday, and it is doubtful if any exhibition games will be played. Arlington at their American league requested a three-game series.

CITY LEAGUERS BANQUET SOON

Members of the champion Elks and all city league nightball managers will be honored at a banquet in the Green Cat cafe a week from tonight.

SANTA ANA TENNIS STARS ADVANCE IN L. A. PLAY

Miss Marjorie Lauderbach, petite Santa Ana, and now a U. C. L. A. co-ed, drew one of the tournament's major threats, Carolyn Babcock of Los Angeles, in the Pacific Southwest tennis championships today.

Santa Ana's other standard-bearer, Miss Josephine Cruickshank, onetime fifth-ranking women singles star of the United States, teamed with John Van Ryn for a mixed doubles match with K. Winthrop and Dr. Gerald Bartosh at 4:30 p. m. today.

Miss Cruickshank and Marjorie

Van Ryn advanced in women's doubles with a 6-0, 6-0 victory over E. Tough and G. Bochard yesterday. She and Mr. Van Ryn trimmed Mrs. Laird and Hall, 6-1, 6-1.

Lewis Wetherell of Santa Ana was eliminated from men's singles Tuesday after a brilliant but losing battle with A. Martin-Legeay, 7-5, 7-5. Martin-Legeay was put out by Dr. Bartosh in straight sets, 9-7, 6-4, yesterday.

Young Wetherell and his River-side partner, Bob Vanderzyl, have been eliminated from men's doubles.

CUBS BREEZE ON TO NEW STRAIGHT-WIN RECORD

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

The pennant-hungry Cubs have gobbled up another record on their way toward the National league title, just about wrecking the hopes of the Giants.

The Cubs routed the Giants 15 to 3 yesterday for their eighth straight triumph, holding their 2½-game margin over the second-place Cardinals and putting the Giants 6½ games to the rear.

The victory gave them not only the longest winning streak in either circuit this season but the longest in the National league since Brooklyn hit the 15-mark in 1924.

Charles Grimm's clouting crew looked good enough to go on almost indefinitely without a loss. Trailing 1-2 as they came to bat in the fourth inning they battered Clydell Castleman and Harry Gumbert for eight runs in the one frame and sewed up the game.

With a crowd of 33,000 on yesterday and more than 90,000 for the three games of the series, the Cubs looked forward to another big afternoon today in the windup of the important struggle.

With another win Chicago would need only four more victories in seven starts to keep the Giants out of the struggle. Bill Lee was expected to pitch, with Carl Hubbell to oppose him.

The Cards, with 11 games to go against Chicago's eight, came from behind to trim the Dodgers 6 to 3. A bad sixth inning put Bill Hallahan in the hole as Pepper Martin, subbing in the outfield for the injured Terry Moore, contributed an error to a two-run Dodger rally.

In the American league, the Yankees delayed the final settlement a little longer by breaking even with the Browns in a double header while the Tigers lost 4-3 to the Red Sox.

The Governor's cup, a new silver trophy five feet high, goes to the club winning the International league playoffs and will be fought for annually.

for several years; and Russ Hall of Los Angeles, secretary of the Baseball Players' association, have been secured as speakers by Judge Kenneth Morrison, City league president.

Man Mountain Gets Two Rivals In Mat Show Here

Man Mountain Dean, the 317-pound Georgia hillbilly, may have talked himself into a double show-landing when he popped off upon learning that Promoter Sampson was attempting to sign either Ivan Mannagoff or Paul Boesch as an opponent for the bearded giant Monday night.

Dean called both Mannagoff and Boesch palookas and offered to toss the pair in a 30-minute time limit match.

Now instead of signing one Sampson has the two opposing the Man Mountain here Monday night.

LOCALS MEET ORANGEMEN TOMORROW

Wright Chooses Foote's Gang to Collect by Two Touchdowns

By PAUL WRIGHT

William Warren (Bill) Foote and his coaching aide, Reece (Pinky) Greene, will introduce Sammy Saint to Santa Ana's football public at Poly field tomorrow, 3:30 p. m.

Orange Panthers, whose tongues have hung out after tiring battles with Santa Ana's preps in recent seasons, will furnish the opposition.

Heavier on the line and in the backfield, and having made a deeper impression in early scrimmages, the Saints will be favored to overthrow their visitor from the Orange County league by a pair of touchdowns.

The size of the score probably will depend upon how smoothly Santa Ana's highly developed aerial attack functions. Capt. Erwin Yonel, stick-fingered left end, and Quarterback Len Stafford, 172-pound blond, will do most of the receiving of passes fired by the Saint halfbacks Carroll Joy and Warren (Whitney) Mann.

Musick at Fullback

The running attack of the Coast league horde will center around Billie Musick, 173-pound brother of Jim of the Boston Redskins. Young Musick has shown worlds of drive. His line plunges will be mixed in with a liberal amount of fancy passing.

Orange, like Santa Ana, is expected to take to the air in its first test. Coach "Stew" White possesses an accomplished passer in petite Norman Leichtfuss, who is slated to alternate with Capt. Larry Todd at quarter.

Santa Ana's starting forwards will boast an average of 172 pounds as compared to 166 for Orange. Orange's average will slump considerably when Guard Bill McNeil, an inexperienced giant who weighs 243, leaves the game.

The Saint backfield will average 167, with the Orange quarter coming in at 159.

Superiority at tackle will be a tremendous aid to Santa Ana. With Jim (Red) Crowther, aggressive 190-pounder, and Bob Reid, 6-2 giant weighing 184, in their lineup the Saints can be counted on for a stubborn showing, on offense as well as defense.

The alert Yonel is expected to smear his share of plays at left end.

Reserves Will Play

Substitutions will be made freely after the first half. Coach White plans to break up the Stafford-Joy-Mann-Musick combination by sending in Mac Beal, quarter; Lester Bock and Ralph Blower, halves; and Bob Dunning, full. Skipper White of the Panthers will employ at least two full teams.

Assistant Greene, Santa Ana's official scout, will watch Long Beach, Calif., in the Southern California champion's game with Redondo Beach tomorrow. The Hares were slated to meet Hollywood, but this game was cancelled because of the new Los Angeles ruling that forbids games before the third week of September. The tussle with Redondo was to be selected today. . . . Lightest man on the field here tomorrow will be Bob Clark, 120-pounder who is a substitute fullback on the Orange squad! . . . Among the first reserve linemen to see service for the Saints will be Vernon Carney and Monroe Rice, tackles; Jack Schilling and Ferris Wall, guards; and Elden Richards, center. Norman Garrett, guard, has a bad ankle, but may be ready. . . . Blower's slightly twisted knee probably will not keep him out of action, Foot said.

"Bud" Harwood has checked in his Santa Ana uniform. . . . Regulation 12-minute quarters will be played.

Radio Roundup

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By HOMER CANFIELD

"TO ARMS FOR PEACE," a weekly sponsored series, will be inaugurated over KHJ-CBS, 5:30 to 6 o'clock. The program's goal will be to stimulate public interest in the ideal of world peace. The sponsor, in conjunction with World Peaceways, a non-profit, non-political organization interested in furthering peace education, has designed the broadcasts to entertain as well as to establish a national understanding of the need for peace.

Sen. William E. Borah will be the speaker of the evening, brilliant Lucrezia Bori will sing, and parts of "Journey's End," R. C. Sheriff's successful play, will make up the broadcast. Different speakers and artists are to be heard on subsequent programs. Deems Taylor, master-of-ceremonies, Howard Barlow's concert orchestra, and a large chorus will be regular features.

Favorite Earlier in the evening, 4:30 to 5 o'clock, KHJ-CBS, Jessica Dragonette will make one of her rare personal appearances as she and William Daly's orchestra bring the Atwater Kent series back to the air for its tenth year.

Miss Dragonette, one of the most beautiful women in radio, has been the reigning soprano favorite with eastern dialers for years.

Stars When Paul Whiteman's show comes over your loudspeaker, to 7 o'clock, KFI-MGM, he'll have such headlines as George Gershwin, composer; Mildred Bailey, blues singer, and Raymond Knight, radio comic, in tow.

Miss Bailey, in this writer's opinion, is radio's greatest singer of blues.

VICTIMSTrio Lined Up, Shot in Back in Newark, N. J.;
Officers Seek Motive

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 19. (AP)—Bank books showing deposits of approximately $30,000 were scanned by police today in their efforts to find motives which led Charles Russell Geary, 43, to kill his brother, and two uncles by marriage, and then take his own life.

The triple murder and suicide were discovered early today after a man had telephoned police headquarters to tell Patrolman Patrick McNamara, at the police switchboard:

"Send police in a hurry to 938 South 20th street."

"What's the matter?" asked the startled McNamara.

"There are three murders and a suicide," replied the man on the phone.

"What do you mean?" asked the policeman.

"I just killed three people."

The caller then hung up.

Two minutes later radio police broke down the door of the second floor apartment and found the bodies of four men, three of them sprawled in the kitchen and the fourth lying on a divan in the sun parlor. The lights were out, the doors were locked.

The body of John S. Geary, 42, brother of Charles, was lying near a window. A few feet away lay Orlando Levan, 60. Near a door leading to the living room was Orlando's brother, Benjamin, 55.

Shot Through Heart

Charles Geary was stretched out on a couch in the sun parlor, a sawed-off shotgun at his feet. He had been shot at close range through the heart. In his hip pocket police found a loaded .38 caliber revolver.

In a dress in the bedroom police found bankbooks made out in the name of Mrs. Kate Le Van, wife of Orlando. She died three weeks ago after a stroke during a visit with relatives at Easton, Pa.

Police calculated the deposits total $30,000.

From questioning tenants of the four-flat building where the tragedy occurred, police pieced together the following story:

Charles drove from Tobeyhanna in the early part of the evening and after a short visit with the Levans and his brother, went out with Benjamin to a nearby tavern where they had several drinks of beer.

Lined Them Up

They then returned to the apartment and the four men sat about a kitchen table discussing family affairs.

About 11 p. m., Charles left the group, walked outside, probably to where his car was parked at the back of the house, and returned a short time later. As he reentered the apartment he suddenly forced the other three men to line up in front of him, hands held high and their backs to him.

He then began firing, Captain Rowe said, from right to left, mowing down first his brother, John, then Orlando Levan and finally Ben. John and Orlando were shot in the back.

Charles then poured himself a cup of coffee, walked to the sun parlor sipped half the contents, telephoned police, and committed suicide.

FIRST CLASSES IN MISSION
County School History Told

By TED STEPHENSON

Along about the time that America was fighting for her freedom in 1776, a mission was established in San Juan Capistrano. In that mission was what might be termed Orange county's first school.

In those days, little attention was paid to reading, writing and arithmetic. The chief object of the school was to bring a certain amount of Christian education to the Indians living in this part of Southern California. The teachers were the padres who were in charge of the mission. Later, Spaniards who settled near the old mission sent their children to the padres for the meager instruction that they had to offer.

Many of the wealthy land owners, and some of the more educated leaders in Southern California, could not read or write a word. Even in the early 1860's, there were many of the old ranchers who still signed their names with an "X."

Yorba Hires Tutor

About 1850, Don Bernardo Yorba, then one of the wealthiest and most respected land owners in Southern California, and himself educated by the padres in the old mission, sent to Los Angeles for a tutor. The tutor was Thomas Scully, an Irishman, who later married one of Don Bernardo's daughters. He was probably the first real teacher in Orange county, outside of the mission, and handled the job of teaching the children on the vast Yorba rancho, located in Santa Ana canyon. Later, Mr. Scully became a cattleman, and at present there is a spot in Santa Ana canyon known as Scully's Point.

The following year a high school was established in Santa Ana. Since that time, five more high schools have been organized in the county.

The two junior colleges, Fullerton and Santa Ana, were both established in 1922.

Old-timers in the county like to tell tales of walking miles to attend school every day, and point with scorn to the modern youth who must have a roadster or coupe to take him a few blocks to the school house. There was nothing unusual in those days to see several horses and even a mule or two hitched to a rack in front of the schools.

The first high school in the county actually became a county, no longer a part of Los Angeles county; there were 32 elementary schools, with 3426 students enrolled. Today there are 89 elementary schools in the county.

In 1889, the first high school in the county was established in Santa Ana. There were three teachers at that time. Four years later, a high school was established in Fullerton. STATE LABOR
UNIT KEEPS
OLD HEADSConvention Will Ask
Local Unions to Kick Out 'Reds'

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 19. (AP)—With several spirited contests looming, delegates to the California State Federation of Labor convention conducted their annual election of officers today.

Edward Vandeleur, San Francisco, president of the organization, was nominated without opposition and will head the federation again during the coming year. Three incumbent vice presidents, J. Matthews, Santa Barbara; Charles W. Real, Oakland; and George W. Stokel, Sacramento, were likewise unopposed for reelection.

Eureka was virtually assured of the 1936 convention when its strongest rival, Fresno, withdrew its bid yesterday.

Leaving a number of important reports behind, and additional issues yet to handle, the convention yesterday voted, 55,113 to 16,328 to request local unions to expell from membership communists or members of allied radical organizations.

Upholding complaints on working conditions voiced by miners in the Argonaut, Kennedy and Central Eureka mines, Frank G. MacDonald, state industrial accident commissioner, told the convention that employers had been ordered to correct the conditions.

In another report, Archie Moore, representing Timothy A. Reardon, director of the department of industrial relations, said that more than $16,000,000 had been awarded insured working people by the industrial accident commission.

The races of the country represent a multiplicity of languages and dialects. Old Ethiopian manuscripts are full of traditional tales and folk lore which have not reached the civilized world because of the total lack of printing presses. Much of Ethiopian literature, jealously guarded by the priesthood, is based on ancient miracles that befell the country's saints. One is the "Kebra Nagast," another "The Miracles of the Virgin."

Marriage and divorce laws are said to be lax. The priesthood forms a powerful group which helps administer the laws. There are lawyers and the Moslems call of "an eye for an eye" underlies judicial decisions.

Enlistments are now open for the Eleventh cavalry and Seventy-sixth field artillery at the presidio of Monterey, it was announced today by Sergeant Michael J. Joyce, local recruiting officer.

There also are vacancies in the infantry, coast artillery and medical service in the Hawaiian department of the army, and in the Sixty-third coast artillery, anti-aircraft, and Third coast artillery at Fort MacArthur, San Pedro.

Sergeant Joyce said applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 35, must be single and without dependents, and of excellent character. Applications may be made in room 207, postoffice building.

ASKS ORDINANCE FOR BOAT SPEED

Thomas E. Bouche, harbor master at Newport harbor, has requested the board of supervisors to adopt an ordinance similar to one now in effect in the beach city, limiting the speed of boats in the harbor. He asked that a six-mile speed limit be established and that mooring specifications be included in the ordinance. The request has been referred to the district attorney.

Ethiopia An 'Old Style' Monarchy

CHIEFS WIELD GREAT LOCAL POWER; PRIESTS ARE INFLUENTIAL

By CHARLES NORMAN
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Last In a Series

The Ethiopian empire is an old-fashioned absolute monarchy, whose provincial chieftains—called "Dejasmatches" or generals, colorful in their headress of lions' manes—wield great local power.

A road has to be built. A member of the royal family picks up a stone. Courtiers follow his example. The local chieftains fall in line. Soon thousands of Ethiopian males are transporting stones, removing boulders, and the road begins to take shape.

The land over which Haile Selassie reigns as King of Kings comprises some 3,500,000 Abyssinians and 6,000,000 Gallas. The rest of the population, variously estimated at around 12,000,000, are Danakils and Somals, tribes Menelik II conquered and subdued.

Lost Worse Befall. . . .

The religion of the black empire is Coptic Christian. It is said when Menelik conquered the Gallas, the inhabitants had to become Christians "lest worse befall them." The process was swift—immersion in the nearest stream and circumcision. The Gallas are a pastoral people.

The Ethiopians are not missionaries, however, and do not welcome the emissaries of other sects. Moslems, Jews and others practice their religion without molestation.

Ethiopia's New Year's day falls on September 11.

Many Races

Abyssinia, comprising one-third of Ethiopia's territory, comes from the ancient "Habesh," meaning a "mixture," because so many races have joined to form the population.

The races of the country represent a multiplicity of languages and dialects. Old Ethiopian manuscripts are full of traditional tales and folk lore which have not reached the civilized world because of the total lack of printing presses. BLAME WIRES
FOR FATAL
AIR CRASHTwo Killed Instantly as New Model Ship Falls
at L. A. Airport

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19. (AP)—Aviation officials today placed blame indirectly on hazardous high-tension power lines skirting the Los Angeles municipal airport for the crash of a secretly-built war plane and the death of its two-man test crew.

The powerful all-metal ship, built behind closed doors and designed as a combination bomber-attack craft, plummeted to destruction late yesterday, killing Thomas C. Van Stone and Dugald Blue.

Mr. Van Stone, 32-year-old aeronautical engineer, was at the controls of the plane, and Mr. Blue, 27, was in the co-pilot's seat. They were instantly killed.

Don Smith, president of the Airplane Development corporation, which built the plane for possible acceptance by the United States army, said electric wires at the airport were indirectly responsible for the crash.

The ship's motor developed difficulties on its take-off due to an airlock in the gasoline line, and began to "conk out," Mr. Smith said. The pilot faced the alternative of flying to a landing through the power lines, or turning back to set down on the air field.

"Because of the wires, Mr. Van Stone apparently elected to turn about, and during the second or two that elapsed the plane lost speed, and as he banked to return, the plane went into a stall and plunged to the earth," Mr. Smith asserted.

It was only yesterday morning that Col. R. B. Barnitz, director of the airport, announced that "the high-tension line hazard will be eliminated in a short time."

BOARD URGED TO OKEH DAM PLAN

Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson and Highway Engineer Nat Neff, have recommended that the board of supervisors authorize construction of a dam and approximately 600 feet of storm drain at Newport Beach. The project was recommended as a flood control measure.

Under terms of a tentative agreement, the Irvine company will provide equipment, estimated at $2,000; the City of Newport will contribute $500, and the county will provide labor and materials not to exceed $2,500.

Pewter, Pottery Prove Popular in New S.A. Ebell Arts and Crafts Section

Sub-Sections To Be Formed For Work

Willard Junior High School to Be Place of Work Meetings

Pewter and pottery proved most popular with members of Santa Ana Valley Ebell society's new arts and crafts section when a survey was taken at the initial meeting, yesterday afternoon in Frances Willard Junior High school building. Mrs. Clarence Gustlin presided.

Twenty-two of the 30 or more members of the section responded to roll call by Mrs. W. W. Kays. Mrs. Golden Weston, adult education director in Willard school, explained to the clubwomen the necessity for dividing the groups so that the noisier activities such as pottery work will be separate from blocking and design work.

Mrs. Marshall Harnois will instruct in woodcarving and blocking. Mrs. R. C. Harris, assistant leader of the section, discussed the art of weaving.

Junior Ebell members are to be invited to meet with the craft groups. Postcards will be sent out later to tell clubwomen the time and place for each craft work period.

The third Wednesday in each month at 10 o'clock in the morning the section will have a program and business session in the clubhouse.

H. S. TEACHERS GO TO IRVINE PARK FOR PICNIC

Irvine park formed the setting for an informal party and steak bake last night by the entire faculty of the Santa Ana High school.

Guests for the evening were Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, Frank Henderson, city superintendent of schools, members of the board of education, George R. Wells, Dr. Margaret Baker, Rola R. Hays, Ridley C. Smith and M. B. Youel and their families.

Faculty members, C. L. Tibbetts, Hazel Dawson, G. M. Woolley, Lynn H. Crawford, Stuart Carrier and B. F. Quivley, planned the affair and acted as hosts.

TROPHIES TO BE PRESENTED AT CLUB DINNER DANCE

Check Up on Your Fall Wear

By way of junior fashions, here's a cocky little two-piece affair in black and white checked wool. Young sprigs will pounce on it with delight, and show it off through long and strenuous wear! Its special 1935 features are: novel armhole... puff sleeve... front-pleated skirt.

JANET RAITT IS SECOND IN HER FAMILY AT POMONA

Representative of the second generation to enroll at Pomona college in Claremont, Miss Janet Raitt, 2026 North Ross street, was participating in registration and freshman week social activities this week on the Pomona campus. Miss Raitt is the daughter of Dr. G. Emmett Raitt, Santa Ana, graduated from Pomona college in the class of 1916.

Prominent at Santa Ana High school in drama and journalism, Miss Raitt was graduated last June as a member of the honor society. She has entered Pomona college as a freshman. An uncle, Ralph Raitt, 1015 North Olive street, is a graduate of the class of 1924 at Pomona, while another uncle, A. J. Raitt, Fullerton, was a member of the Pomona class of 1915.

Miss Raitt began class attendance today, when the college year was opened officially by Dr. George S. Burgess, acting president at Pomona college in the absence of Dr. C. K. Edmunds who is touring Europe.

THIMBLE CLUB HAS LUNCHEON MEET

Neighbors of Woodcraft Thimble club members were entertained at the home of Mrs. Haven Holbrook in Newport Beach Tuesday. A covered-dish luncheon was served at noon. Others present were Mrs. Clara Gaudin and Mrs. Florence Erthol, Fullerton, Mrs. Ethel Bramley, Mrs. Louise Saia and Mrs. Dora Morrow.

Mrs. Tuthill Hostess At Breakfast

Mrs. R. G. Tuthill, who has been on numerous occasions a substitute in the Wednesday contract bridge club, returned past courtesies at an attractively appointed breakfast bridge party which she gave yesterday in her home on Victoria drive.

After breakfast, served at a long table centered with a pottery bowl of early autumn fruit, bridge was played. Table prizes were given.

Present were Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank and Mrs. Tuthill as substitutes for Mrs. A. G. Flagg and Mrs. James Harding, and Mesdames I. F. Landis, C. V. Davis, George Briggs, Roy Hall, Edward Farnsworth, Earl Morrow, Philip Hatzfeld, Charles Kelly, Parke Roper and J. I. Clark.

20 BABIES COME TO CLUB CLINIC

Twenty babies attended the first fall well baby clinic sponsored by Mrs. Donald J. Dodge, club welfare chairman, and the Costa Mesa Friday Afternoon club, Monday afternoon in the clubhouse.

Dr. Edward Lee Russell and Miss Erma Cotton had charge of the clinic.

In addition to the regular monthly well baby clinic, the county health department will hold two clinics in October for the purpose of immunizing against diphtheria. The first will be Thursday morning, Oct. 3 at 9 o'clock in the clubhouse. All pre-school children above six months of age are eligible to attend. Parents wishing to have their children immunized are to get in touch with Mrs. Donald J. Dodge, Costa Mesa, Newport 432, before Oct. 1.

BRIDGE CLUB HAS PRETTY PARTY IN STODDARD HOME

Members of Mrs. Palmer Stoddard's bridge club were entertained by her last evening at a pretty-appointed party in her home, 415 West Pine street.

Autumn flowers were used decoratively. After the play, the hostess served a dessert course.

Present were Mesdames Robert U. Smith, Kermit Maynard, John S. Taylor and Allan Howell, and Misses Eunice Bright, Lucille Howell, Pauline Wells and Erlene Farmer.

S. O. O. B. TO PLAN BENEFIT AFFAIR

Further plans for ways and means of the Social Order of Beauceant will be discussed next Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. R. Muller, 1227 South Main street. A noon pot-luck luncheon will be served.

This was the decision of the organization at their meeting yesterday afternoon in the Masonic temple.

Tentative plans were laid for a card party at one of the member's home next week.

JUNIORS TO USHER AT EBELL MEETING

Mrs. Frederick Elliott, Mrs. Charles Webber and Mrs. Louise Norton of Santa Ana Junior Ebell will act as ushers at the opening of the 1935-36 meeting of Senior Ebell Monday afternoon in the Ebell clubhouse.

Bodice of Marian Martin Frock Has Many a "Point" In It's Favor

PATTERN 9600

It's up, it's down, it's up!—the zig-zag line taken by sleeve-yoke and bodice. As the bodice rises to a peak in front, a bit of shirring catches it and holds it becomingly between the rounds of a small collar. If you prefer, you can tuck a bow at this focal point as in the smaller sketch. The gored skirt is responsible for the graceful fullness at the hemline. The cuffs may be either short, or deep and pointed, but the elbow puff remains just the same. The drape softness of this all-occasion frock is best interpreted in a sheer novelty crepe or wool. Complete. Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9600 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric. Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

THE NEW MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK is ready now! 40 pages... color illustrations... dozens of easy-to-make pattern designs—for every occasion and all your family, this whole fall and winter! Special slenderizing patterns, step-by-step sewing lessons, lovely gifts easy to make. Fabric and accessory news. Practical advice on choosing clothes. SEND FOR YOUR COPY NOW! PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Send your order to The Journal, Pattern Department, 117 East 5th street, Santa Ana, Cal.

Dunning-Welch Nuptials To Be Tomorrow

Miss Barbara Welch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Austin of North West street, Anaheim, and Charles Wesley Dunning, son of Dr. James Edwin Dunning, superintendent of the San Diego district of the Methodist church, and Mrs. Dunning, 426 South Birch street, will exchange marriage vows tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock in First Methodist church bride's chapel. Dr. Dunning will officiate.

One hundred-fifty invitations have been issued for the wedding. The bride's sister, Carol, will be her maid of honor.

Edwin Dunning, widely-known Los Angeles baritone singer, will be his brother's best man, and will also sing before the ceremony.

Mrs. Dunning will play his accompaniments.

Herbert Welch, brother of the bride, and Willard Koenig, Pacific Palisades, friend of the bridegroom, will be ushers.

A reception in the chapel will follow the ceremony.

The bride-elect, Pomona college graduate, took graduate work at the University of California, Berkeley. She was complimented Tuesday evening with a dinner party and kitchenware shower at which Mrs. E. E. Smith entertained in her home on North Clementine street, Anaheim. Guests included Miss Welch's fiancé's mother and 12 Anaheim Junior Ebell members.

Mr. Dunning is a graduate of University of Southern California, class of '32, and is engaged in welfare work in Orange county.

DUDE RANCH PARTY TO BE GIVEN FOR NEW H. S. GIRLS

Life on a dude ranch will be the entertainment offered new girl students at Santa Ana High school next Monday night at the Y. W. C. A., when the High School Tri-Y is hostess.

An old-fashioned barn dance will be conducted by Miss Mary Nalle and Miss Marian Bruner. A sextet will present a group of cowboy songs, and Glen Evans' orchestra will present popular music.

Guests are to wear ranch costumes if they are available.

In charge of the event will be the advisory board, including Miss Mary Porter, secretary, Miss Mary Schaefer, Mrs. Glenn Bost, Miss Mary Nalle, Miss Jean Erna, Miss Clara Spelman and Miss Marian Bruner, and the G. H. cabinet, composed of the Misses Knight, Helen Love, Dorothy Jenkins, Isabel McCormac, Roberta Nichols, Helen Hicks, Josephine White, Joy Townsley, Betty Neff, Mary Coffman, Kay Palmer and Norma Area.

BRIDGE CLUB HAS LUNCHEON MEET

Harmony Bridge club members were entertained Tuesday at a luncheon at the Masonic temple with Mrs. Ray M. Wyckoff and Mrs. W. C. McFarren presiding as hostesses.

Prizes in auction went to Mrs. George Shippe, Mrs. John Bruns and Mrs. Effie Neuschwaner. The contract award was given Mrs. Joe Steele.

Others present were Mesdames Carlyle Dennis, B. E. Dawson, Harvey Dimmitt, Elsie Edwards, Lloyd Folger, Rae Foust, Max Gowdy, Joe Hershiser, Sam Jernigan, Rowland Kloess, Glenn Lyman, Clarabelle Rousseau, Ray Spauld, Ray Snyder, Genevieve Holmes, William Pagenkopp and Isabel Darthe.

Mary Stoddard Noble Womanhood Doesn't Drink and Smoke Says Reader In Retort to Anne's Advice

By MARY STODDARD

They're off with a flying start! Dozens of readers who are clamoring to answer Anne, the young married woman who wrote recently saying she was tired of hearing the complaints of smug girls who claim that there are no interesting decent men who appreciate a worthwhile girl. She added that her husband agreed with her.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

Do you think that in general too much emphasis is placed in schools on extra-curricular activities?

Mrs. Harry LeBar: I really do think so. I think the true value in schools lies in education itself, and the incidentals which take up much of the student's time don't help particularly in a practical way in later life.

Mrs. E. A. Elwell: I do. It seems to me that children should study at school so they may have leisure at home, instead of playing at school and having to use their evening hours at home to keep up in their studies.

Mrs. E. Dawson: I believe extra-curricular activities hold a very real value. The right kind of training in sports, for instance, strengthens and helps children. A certain amount of social activities gives poise to them, too, and lends interest to their school life.

MRS. W. A. WEST HAS BENEFIT PARTY FOR HOMELESS CHILDREN

Opening a series of benefit bridge parties, Mrs. W. A. West entertained Tuesday afternoon at her home on West 17th street with a fried chicken luncheon and bridge fete. Proceeds of the event will go to homeless children, under care of the Native Daughters of the Golden West.

Pottery dishes were awarded as prizes in the play to Mrs. Henry Walters and Mrs. George Seba. Mrs. William H. Mize was co-hostess.

Others present were Mesdames George Seba and Lynn Wallace, Orange; Mrs. Arthur Edwards and daughter, Miss Gladys Edwards, Placentia; Mrs. Arthur Gant, Brea; Mrs. Charles Ernest, Win-bona; and Mesdames Ernest, Win-bona; Mrs. Charles Cramer, Leta Ew-bank, Henry Walters, Walter Hickey, George Baier, Lewis Frost-fer, Horace Head, Herbert Bray, Delbert Liggett, Paul Etzold and Raymond Dixon, and Mrs. Naomi Schoenrock and Mrs. A. M. Bailey, houseguests of the hostess.

CAN YOU GUESS NELSON EDDY'S FAVORITE COLOR?

Would you like to know Nelson Eddy's favorite color?

To all intents and purposes, it's blue, for he surrounds himself with blue furnishings in his Beverly Hills home, according to Mrs. Jessie W. Collins, Balboa Island, who returned early this week from a several days' visit with the noted singer's mother, Mrs. Isabel Eddy.

Parties aplenty entertained Mrs. Collins during her stay at the Eddy home, which is on North Alpine drive, directly across from the Lawrence Tibbett residence and kitty-corner from Theda Bara's home.

Mr. Eddy is starting work with Jeanette MacDonald at Lake Tahoe on their new motion picture, "Rose Marie."

BRIDGE PARTY IS EVENING AFFAIR OF S. A. HOSTESSES

Entertaining informally, Mrs. J. F. Jacoby and Mrs. E. G. Maier, were hostesses Tuesday evening to a group of friends at bridge at the home of Mrs. Jacoby, 125 East Pomona.

Zinnias were used to decorate. Prizes went to Mrs. T. S. Hunter and Mrs. William Benson, Pasadena.

FORMER FULLERTON WOMAN NOW LIVES IN HANFORD

Mrs. Agnes Purnell, office secretary for the California Federation of Women's clubs, who won hundreds of friends for herself among Orange county clubwomen while in the Fullerton headquarters for the past two years, is now busily at work in the new headquarters of the federation at Hanford, home city of Mrs. W. D. James, state president.

Mrs. Purnell assisted Mrs. James in keeping open house last week for visitors to the headquarters. She has expressed herself as "most pleased with the attractive new surroundings," and has invited her Southland friends to come to see her.

New Twin Bill At Broadway

Two big new features, "Redheads on Parade," a picture of dancing girls, romance and backstage scenes, together with "Streamline Express," a mystery-comedy, start a three-day showing at the Broadway theater today.

"Redheads on Parade" is the story of the making of a motion picture which just gets started when the producers find they are broke. Just as they get out of their financial difficulties, a scandal almost breaks up the picture. John Boles, Dixie Lee and Jack Haley have the important roles.

"Streamline Express" tells the story of the happenings to a trainload of people on a new streamline train, rushing without stopping from New York to California to break the world's record. A baby is born enroute, a scandal is uncovered, and a theft is committed and the culprit caught. Victor Jory and Evelyn Venable have the leading roles.

PAUL WOOD, BRIDE FETED AT SHOWER GIVEN BY AUNT

Paul B. Wood and his bride, the former Miss Bernice Brookfield of Hollywood, whose marriage took place last Sunday in Whittier Presbyterian church, were feted Monday evening with a miscellaneous shower given by Mr. Wood's aunt, Mrs. J. M. Mosley of Fairview street.

After an evening of games, Mrs. Mosley served cakes and ices. Her nephew, who has been making his home with her, is a Santa Ana High school and Junior college graduate and is employed in the engineering department of an oil company. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Wood of Huntington Beach.

Mrs. Wood is the daughter of Mrs. Viola Brookfield of Hollywood.

Other guests were Messrs. and Mesdames W. H. Thompson, W. C. Boggs, Charles Hill, W. S. With-crow, Frank Partridge, Cecil Her-rin, H. Clayton, Joe Steele, John Wallace, C. O. Wood and F. A. Snites, J. M. Mosley, Misses Elsie and Jessie Carter and Mrs. Watson.

SCHOOL FRIENDS HAVE PLEASANT REUNION PARTY

High school friends of Miss Charlotte Mock and Miss Marian Doty had an informal reunion when the two girls entertained at dinner recently in the Carl Mock home on East Seventeenth street.

After an outdoor barbecue dinner, the time was spent in bridge. Misses Nancy White and Betty Lee won prizes.

Other guests were Misses Ione Hooven, Barbara Rowland, Helena Bailey, Jean Reuter, Betty Campbell, Valerie Demetriou, Frances Was and Mary Lou McFarland.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS UNSAFE

MUCH has been said about civic pride and the fact that we should vote the school bonds now while we have an opportunity to be a beneficiary of government funds. Both are important, and either factor should be sufficient reason to enlist support. But the greatest of all reasons why the bonds should carry has been soft-pedaled because we have been reluctant to tell the world about it. Here it is:

The buildings damaged by earthquake which did not fall down or were not pulled down, and are still being used, are not safe.

This is not fancy; it is not a bludgeon to beat voters into line. It is the statement of inspectors of the state department of architecture who made an exhaustive report after their examination following the earthquake of 1933. Inspectors said two buildings now being used—the combination building housing the academic classes and the west building, housing commercial, home economics and art classes—probably would be safe under ordinary conditions, but that neither is considered safe with respect to horizontal forces such as might develop—and did in 1933—in the case of a horizontal quake.

We do not like to think of these things. We do not like to cause uneasiness on the part of parents. But it is better now to face conditions than to be sorry afterward and ask each other: "Why were we not told those buildings were unsafe?"

One may ask: Cannot repairs be made to insure proper reinforcement? The board of education labored long over this very thing. Its members found, after their studies, that the cost of repairs would be virtually 60 to 70 per cent of what new buildings would amount to, and when all was done we still would have old buildings and the poor construction that went into them when they were built.

One source of opposition to the bonds recently inferred that the board's anxiety over new buildings was prompted by the fees the architect would collect in the event the building program goes through. While few take this seriously, there are always some ready to point the finger of suspicion toward public men. At best this is a cowardly thing to do in this case. The world admires a fighter, but it will not tolerate a sniper.

Considering the title Public Enemy No. 1, there's that leader of New York bandits who made 20 club men off their pants in the presence of five hostesses.

WHO KILLED HUEY LONG?

DID YOU have a part in the assassination of Huey Long? As one human unit in that great body known as public opinion, did you help focus thoughts which, last week, resulted in the pistoling of the Louisiana dictator?

Maybe not, and yet there is in this country one school of psychiatric thought which holds that such an act as Dr. Weiss committed rises from some force far deeper and more significant than mere personal and individual unbalance. A New York news dispatch puts it this way:

"It was already a completed idea in many minds. It was not due to insanity of an individual, but to a network of emotional currents in society."

This analysis is made by J. L. Moreno, M.D., a psychiatrist internationally known in his field for success in "sociometry," a new method of mapping and tracing the effects of networks of emotions in communities.

"Certain crimes, as political crimes," he said, "are not individual acts. The individuals implicated in them are negligible compared with the emotional currents underlying which provoke them to act. Crimes like these are also neither accidental nor impulsive. They travel through the minds of many long before they are acted out by one who is caught by such a current. The crime is committed many a time in fantasy and in many forms long before it takes the shape of real action."

If this theory is sound, we must revise our ideas on public opinion and credit it with even greater powers than had commonly been attributed to it.

San Francisco leads the world some more. According to the U. S. Collector, her gamblers, bootleggers and lottery pay their income tax.

OWN OR RENT?

UNDER the title: "The Folly of Homeowning," a magazine writer tries to prove that anyone who owns a home is plain foolish. It's a money-wasting proposition, he says.

There's an eternal argument whether it's cheaper to own or to rent. But a little thought will show that there can't be a great deal of difference. If it were cheaper to rent, everyone would rent; if it were cheaper to own, nobody would rent. Conditions tend to equalize the costs of the two systems.

Take a $5,000 home. It costs $300 a year to carry it, at 6 per cent. Taxes are about $100; repairs about $50. The monthly cost of owning it is around $37.50—which is just about what it would rent for.

Main advantage of owning a home lies in the intangible values. There is a feeling of freedom—you can do what you like with the place.

Figured financially, it's a standoff between owning and renting. Figured any other way, home-owning is away out in front.

This Ethiopian war news is rapidly degenerating into the kind of publicity that precedes a big prize fight.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Papa Moneta's culinary shrine is along a tumbling stretch of Mulberry street in the seethe of the Italian quarter and off a hip of Chinatown. Across the street, in one of those triangular slum breathing spots, Chinese, Italian and other foreign born children frolic the day long.

Surrounding windows frame faces of tired women on their "leaning cushions." Every block, almost, has its black mustache, velvet tanned jacket salesman of religious statuary. From an occasional cellar floats the strains of accomplished accordionists and vicarious Rigoletti quartets.

The standardized foreign tenement quarter the world over. Yet into the squallor Papa Moneta brings New York's most discriminating gourmets. Through his little green canopied doorway come such regulars as Frank Crowninshield, Ben Ali Haggin, George Jean Nathan and Achmed Abuliah.

Moneta's has the unpretentious charm that distinguished red bricked Voisin's in the rue Cambon. Pin neat but now showy. There are no chatoyant divans, chromium edges and swoops of mirrors. It might be a restaurant of the '80's. Neither is it over crowded. Better restaurants of the world seldom are.

A gentleman of importance writes me of roving his thinning hair to former luxuriance after many false starts. His recipe: An English whalebone bristled brush, 100 strokes a day, then rub in coconut oil—not coconut butter. Says he: "This process brushes the dead hairs out and is a great stimulant. I figure no kanakans are ever bald. They must use coconut oil. Hence!"

The most persistent seeker for the baldness panacea is likely Aubrey Eads, who has chased the will of the wisp to all parts of the world—London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Constantinople. He has spent a sizable fortune in the quest over a period of 15 years but his hair still thins. Yet he does not regard the results with pessimism. "Maybe," he observes, "without these ministrations I would have been entirely bald long ago."

Broadway's recent dancing sensation is a fellow with a single leg, billed as Peg Leg Bates. At the age of 29 and despite the handicap many hail him as nimble as Fred Astaire, Hal LeRoy and other top notches. He prefaces his turn with the announcement he does not want sympathy but merely to be judged like other performers on merit.

Louis Sobol and Ed Sullivan, the Broadway columnists, have become two of waning vaudeville's smooth masters of ceremony and are frequently three sheeted with names in lights at picture palaces. In contrast to their rather saucy calling, their manner is reserved and minus exuberance. They stimulate and accelerate the various acts without those Caesarish cracks, wine bibbing smirks, and shriekings that have made ring-masters pests.

Incidentally, it was just 17 years ago that New York beheld its first master of ceremonies, Raymond Hitchcock in his "Hitchy Koo" revue. The comedian in evening dress and top hat greeted his audience in the lobby calling them by name, making introductions and strolling the aisles at intermission to exchange banter and give the going-on an aura of informality and small towniness the theater had rarely known. The idea was Karl Kitchen's.

Thingumabobs: Adolph Menjou can't be talked out of horizontally striped stuff bosomed shirts. Ever Amelia Earhart is skittish crossing Fifth avenue at 42d.

Theodore Dreiser usually orders pig's knuckles and sauerkraut cold at Lucknow's. The Arthur Samuels quickened to Paris for 48 hours recently. William Seabrook, who wrote "Asylum," a personal experience with alcoholism, now takes one mild sherry before dinner but that's all. London has 22 daily columnists. S. S. Van Dine, mystery fictionist, has a Scottie that will begin scratching at the sight of a comb. And there's Gene Fowler's story of the Airplane that went to the Flea Circus and "stole the show."

My mind won't stick to work today. In a 51st street window there's a pair of yellow silk pajamas polka dotted in red, cuffed, collared and sashed in purple. And in a 36th street window there's a pink-tongued Sealym puppy that alternates barking at his mirror reflection and chasing his tail until he falls into a silly squat. (Copyright, 1935)

CRIME PLAGUES TURKEY ISTANBUL (AP)—Sukru Saragoc, minister of justice, has announced that juvenile courts will be opened in all the chief cities of Turkey to deal with child criminals. It is estimated that in Istanbul alone the police arrest 5,000 vagabond boys and girls a year.

MOPEY DICK AND THE DUKE

"But it ain't any harm to be crazy these days, Duke."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The new split-up of the staid old J. P. Morgan firm into two separate houses—one to sell bonds, the other to do banking—is arousing more than idle curiosity on the part of the Securities-Exchange commission. It is probable that the SEC will delve into the subdivision.

Behind the Morgan break-up is the fight by the banking interests of the country to sell bonds. This was where the big gravy was made back in the days of the Coolidge bull market. Millions of German, Latin American, and other securities—now almost worthless—were sold to the public. And many bank directors who were trustees for widows and orphans, diverted a certain portion of the bonds they had to sell into these trusts.

The banking act of 1933 stopped this. It prevented banks from selling bonds. But when the banking act of 1935 was reported out of Senator Glass's committee at the last session of congress, the right to sell bonds was back in the bill. This inclusion was ascribed to loan, J. P. Morgan partner and chief lobbyist in Washington, Glass, when secretary of the treasury, had appointed Leffingwell his assistant secretary. Since that time both have been close friends.

Morgan interests staged a drive to keep this bond-selling provision in the bill. But it was knocked out. So now the Morgan concern has split up. One firm will sell bonds, one will do banking. What the SEC wants to know is whether the common stock of the new firm is not held, at least in part, by the partners of the old firm.

DID YOU KNOW...

THAT the government's annual stamp output is the largest in the world, the paper stock being equivalent to 7,000 trees, 50 feet in height and 15 inches in diameter?

That the treasury and White House are connected by a subterranean passage, never used by Secretary Morgenthau but used frequently by Ogden Mills when he held secret conferences with President Hoover?

That the holding company act has a provision prohibiting utilities from contributing to political campaigns?

That Francis Scott Key, author of the Star Spangled Banner, was once district attorney for the District of Columbia?

TREE ARMY

CLOSE to a thousand reserve army officers, doctors and chaplains are being quietly dismissed by the CCC.

Reason is death of enrollments in the tree army.

On the recommendation of the President last spring, congress doubled the size of the corps from 300,000 to 600,000. Elaborate preparations were made for a rush of enrollments.

But the boys did not sign up. Chief reason was the loudly ballyhooed work-relief program. "Security Wages" under work-relief at home looked more attractive than a CCC camp at a $1-a-day—with two-thirds of the monthly paycheck deducted for the folks back home.

So the CCC started a vigorous enrollment drive which finally netted 500,000 men by August 31.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

SEPT. 19, 1910

The board of supervisors today set the county tax rate at $1.60 on each $100 of assessed valuation which, with the item of 40 cents for roads, makes the rate $1.20 inside cities, and $1.60 outside. This figure is in excess of last year's rate by 40 cents.

In promoting the comfort of her guests during the three days of the county street fair, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Orange will introduce innovations that are absolutely unique in the history of street fairs in small towns. The Orange conception of hospitality is to have people enjoy themselves and the little city has gone beyond the ordinary methods to attain that end.

The Santa Ana Valley Walnut Growers association packing house will be ready to receive the season's crop of nuts on Thursday, and from then until the crop is all disposed of, will be kept open for business.

Everyone will remember Potter's birthday celebration last September. It came on the 18th. This year, he planned the event for the 24th, but decided to postpone on account of the hurry and bustle of the coming of the circus the day before.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

The Constitution and the Test of Time

THE federal constitution is nearing its century and a half of effective application and has the gained weight and prestige which a venerable life bestows. September 17 was CONSTITUTION DAY. Throughout the land spots of fervid oratory were released. Melodious spell-binders held forth, many of them as uninformed on the historic document as some of the New Dealers themselves. Like President Taft, an "authority on the constitution," who in 1909, appointed Senator Knox to head his cabinet, in violation of Clause 2, Section 6, Article 1. The senate confirmed the appointment and all went well until some school youngster pointed out the breach in legal wisdom.

The world is too full of trouble. The trouble is, there's too much color, too many thrills, not enough value.—Theodore Dreiser.

We have a rule—a good one. We never both get mad at the same time.—A. W. Lewis, 80, of Kansas City, who has been wed 60 years, when asked his formula for successful marriage.

The Emperor of Ethiopia intends to lead his troops into battle. Mussolini—I do not charge him with lack of courage—probably will not be there. Let those who make quarrels be the only men to fight.—Premier Collins of West Australia.

Any place that isn't fit for a woman to be in isn't fit for a man either.—M. Louise Gross, national chairman, Women's Moderation Union, defending right of women to drink at bars.

Lemon Juice

Howdy, folks! Summer is just about over. Goody, goody! Now we don't have to sit around any more campfires and listen to a bunch of people warbling "Sweet Adeline" out of tune.

A radio has one advantage over campfire singing—you don't have to sit on a bumpy log to listen to it.

TODAY'S HEROINE

A beautiful hand-painted wienewurst goes to Miss Amnesia Zilch, flapper. Miss Zilch has not been heard to say, "Oh, yeah?" or "Okey-dokey!" during the past six months.

What this country needs, declares a Finance economist, is a dollar which will not be so elastic.

STATIC

The roar of Niagara Falls was broadcast the other evening by radio. Radio fans thought this was being done right along.

There is only one true test of love. She loves you if she doesn't go out with another fellow when your car is laid up for repairs.

EVERYDAY—

"Now I don't want you to go to any trouble," said the unexpected relative from Kansas, "just make me one of the family!"

Now that the Pacific and Atlantic oceans have been crossed by airplanes and men have flown around the world, nothing remains but for somebody to go over the North Pole in a barrel.

Joe Bungstarter: Do you like hard-boiled eggs? L'il Gee Gee: No, I prefer college boys.

WORDS WED' RATHER NOT HEAR

"I haven't played bridge for years, but I'll take a hand, just to help out."

Joe Bungstarter remarks that back in the Arkansas hills, where he came from, a formal party was one at which the guests wore shoes.

YE DIARY

Thys morning to lie abed, suffering from an ache in the stomach from something I did eat the night before, and do recall how Dame Juice, when first we married, did use to wait: "Oh, darling, are you sick? You look so terribly white! Shall I get an ice-pack for your head? Shall I telephone the doctor? Won't you let me fix you a mustard plaster?"

But Lord! that do be many years ago, and thys morn she doth only snort: "Get up, you lazy oaf! You can't lie around here all day. I've got my housework to do."

And so to the printer.

TEACHER TURNS BANDIT

RADOM, Poland (AP)—After villagers hereabouts had been terrorized for a year by a robber in a black mask, he was caught when a traveling salesman fought him, seizing his revolver although the bandit escaped. The gun was traced to a country school teacher.

The origin of the five-lined nose, never known as "Limerick" is lost in obscurity.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

If you can yodel it's all right. If you can't, don't. Manager of an apartment house complains that a janitor who evidently believes song lightens the burden introduces his 5 o'clock labor with a Swiss call that is unappreciated by the tenants of the apartment, who are convinced that it is a good time to sleep. I'm not an authority on yodels, so the complaint goes to St. Flur, who isn't either, although he knows how they originated. Anyway, that let's me out and St. in.

I've looked over the flood map for the proposed control and conversant after program for Orange county, and there are so many dams in it that my services won't be needed.

That fellow who smashed into "Blondie" Meister's barber shop and left a couple of hundred dollars' damage, forgot to send his mailing address to A. B. Rousselle. I've always had a hunch that he tried to park at Dick Garstang's place, but having missed the entrance a few feet he just decided the most economical thing he could do was keep going.

That fellow who frantically waved his hand for me to come into a cafe don't know that my lunch has been provided for.

You know, life isn't what I thought it was going to be. I'd like to talk to my ancestors. They told me that I would have to work if there was any bread on the table, and get in some overtime if I got any butter. But now there is a new system and if you know how you don't have to work out of the dusk to you comes a check which provides food and raiment. Boy, that's manna from heaven or some other place, delivered without the sweat on your forehead or any of the old-fashioned ideas of our progenitors.

The boys gave the old constitution the inhalator treatment on the 14th anniversary. It was a long time to go without giving the old fellow a shot in the arm, but he responded magnificently. Looks like he may survive another 145 years—and then some.

Now I know what Ernie Winbiger was carrying that gun for. He has gone deer hunting. Ernie is a good shot. If the deer know it they won't get hurt. But a fellow who goes several hundred miles into northern California to hunt ought to have some recognition. Maybe Ernie can run across Jimmy Utt's mule-tail deer.

Santa Ana is more familiar with Howard Hughes since his speed test was made from the Eddie Martin airport. It may be interesting to know that at the age of 12 he displayed great mechanical genius, and at 15 was having special tutors at the California Institute of Technology. His father was the elder brother of Rupert Hughes, the author, and inventor of the Hughes conical bit which revolutionized oil drilling all over the world, and made him a multimillionaire. Howard senior designed the conical bit on a breadboard in his mother's dining room, and his father, the late Felix T. Hughes, backed the son in his first enterprise. Young Howard veered into the movies for a time, but his rightful and logical place is in scientific work. At 352 miles per hour it would look like he was going places.

There's a fashion show coming along tonight. Well, I'm glad to know that it is still popular and respectable to wear something, even if it isn't much. You know the girl on the flying trapeze always looked better to me than the one in the sideshow with a forest of varicose veins. So when the Santa Ana merchants put on the fashion show try and get something to improve your appearance, not detract from it. And I didn't get this idea from Patou, either.

Called on Chief of Police Floyd Howard. He said he wasn't expecting me, didn't send for me, and why did I call? Say, there's a home-coming with the welcome left out. Guess I'll try Logan Jackson. If you take this serious, I don't.

Publicity may put a temporary check on automobile accidents, but there isn't much virtue in a campaign unless it includes continuity. A million injured and 36,000 killed last year does not mean much to the average driver, unless he or those near to him were listed among the casualties. If you want to get a horrifying picture of carelessness, which is the cause of most accidents, ask Hube Bown to give you a pamphlet entitled "Sudden Death," by J. C. Furnas. It may make you "driver conscious." If you jump out of an airplane you better take along a parachute, and when you put the most priceless possessions in the world in your car—the family—and start on an automobile trip, you better take along all your driving ingenuity. You'll need it.
